Poetry.

For the Patriot

Good Bye Old Year.

Good bye old year, your work is done.

Your record is set, and right or wrong,

Shall serve you to the north and south.

But do not think you have been wrong.

A lesson we have taught mankind.

That nations, created as we are, should

Not wrap the soul, should a dreadful

Story, for the last of time and

And a new year shall be born.

On our feet, but not on our feet.

Our virtues fall as false the sun.

Unwashed lives and evil done.

Then followed fast and quietude.

They drilled the wires with lightning speed.

Those messages and deeds must be

Inscribed in their memory.

Good bye old year, upon your soul

There may be much yet to unfold.

Both good and ill shall be revealed.

Good bye old year, your work is done.

No sound so sad as that which fell

Upon our ears that evening night.

When sunset's glow was on the sky.

Your work, oh, how it has been done.

They say that's better than the sun.

In future years, when you are dead.

Will read our nation's sacrifice.

The depth of agony will be.

Each golden link of sympathy.

That men and nations are grown

One grand fraternity may know.

Good bye old year, the changes made.

Here's here the sound of those who have.

They will no longer, they have said.

The new year comes, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

Good bye old year, oh, how it has.

How He Proved It.

It is the custom in Mexico for church to require a foreigner wishing marry a native, to bring proof that is not already a married man. American, about to marry a senorita of a very good family, was required to furnish the proof of his being a bachelor. Not finding any of his country-men who knew him sufficiently well to who knew him sufficiently well to certify to this fact, he determined to supply the deficiency with the oath of a native. Meeting a Mexican in the street whom he had never seen before, our country-man proposed to him that he should swear to his being unmarried for the consideration of five dollars. The senior, after a moment's study, told the "Gringo"—"Get down your hands and knees and crawl about." Not exactly understanding

A. R. much to the detriment of his unme-
Co. tionables. The other party then to
F. F. him he was all right; that he would ch, swear that he had known him since t

State Board of Education.
The annual report of the State Board of Education has been before the Senate, and referred to the Committee on Education. The report is a valuable contribution to the knowledge of the state of the schools throughout the whole State. The board does not ask for officials to be intrusted with direct management or administration, but more fully the work now in part undertaken, of diffusing knowledge, concerning the best modes of management, and of collecting information respecting the actual condition of the schools. To this end the board earnestly requests of the public schools, that they be enabled to employ at least two additional agents. The normal schools, which are distinctly committed to the charge of the board, and for which alone it is directly responsible, have received careful attention during the year. It is certain, we think, that their influence is felt to an increasing extent in the elevation of the standard of capacity and fitness in preparation of those who are to enter upon the work of instruction in our public schools. The report of the secretary of the board shows that the number of public schools is 6901, an increase of 431 during the year; the number of children in the State between five and fifteen years is 312,080, an increase of 5579; the number of pupils in the public schools was 232,279, an increase of 8492. The average attendance for the year shows a decrease of 19. There are 1134 male and 7737 female teachers. The average increase in the wages of the male teachers has been $18 per month, and of the female $7.30 per month. The average number of months of school has been eight months and eighteen days. Amount raised by taxation for support of public schools, including only wages of teachers, fuel, care of fires and school-rooms, $4,130,714.11.
NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. In the February number of the North American Review, Prof. Geo. P. Fisher of the Yale Divinity School, comes to the defence of the Christian Religion against the attacks of modern doubt and infidelity. He declares the position of a debater, and makes no reference to Col. Ingersoll's assaults, although he necessarily deals with the objections so brilliantly and unflinchingly presented by that doughty combatant. He proceeds in a very orderly manner to maintain a series of positions in regard to the origin, essential character and beneficial effects of the Christian faith. His contribution to the controversy will be regarded with great interest, as furnishing the latest statement of orthodox views in what may be regarded as an authoritative form. Taking it as such, not the least part of its value will be found in the evidence it affords of the progressive character of the most strictly orthodox thought of the day.
Other articles in the February number of the Review are: "Do the Spoils Belong to the Victor?" by President Andrew D. White; "A Remedy for Railway Abuses," by Isaac L. Rice; "Reputation in Virginia," by Senator John W. Johnston; and "The Lancet and the Law," by Henry Bergh.
SUDDEN DEATH. During the past week the people of the Commonwealth have been called upon to mourn the loss of one of its ex-Governors, the Hon. Alexander H. Bullock, who died very suddenly in Worcester, on Tuesday afternoon. He had attended to several business matters during the day, and while walking home dropped dead on the street of heart disease or apoplexy. Governor Bullock has not been in politics much of late years, but has during his life served the people of both branches of our State Legislature, having been Speaker in the House for several years. In 1868 he succeeded Hon. John A. Andrew as Governor, and his administration was upright and impartial. He remained in the executive chair three years, Governor Bullock will be remembered as a ready and able speaker, having a wide range of topics; an excellent Governor, and an upright and much respected gentleman.
SINGULAR. The Millford Journal says: "The Evening Star, a Boston paper published in the interests of Spiritualism and its believers, is one of the novelties in the newspaper field, inasmuch as its advertised editor-in-chief, business manager and publisher are all dead, the last mentioned having died over one year ago, and the two former several years previous. The paper has a circulation of 2000 copies, and is printed twice a month. The reading matter for the most part consists of communications from the departed. In the spring of 1881, a medium, in a communication written to this paper, predicted the shooting and death of the President of the United States in the course of a few months, with what accuracy we are all now well aware. The present number of the paper is Mrs. M. B. Sprague's description of Boston."
THE PRESIDENT'S TURNOUT. The President's new carriage and pair are the sensation of the streets in Washington, and his son who is spending a few vacation days at the White House, takes a daily riding trip with his young friends. The prancing horses have heavy silver chains and mountings on their harness, and their squared-off tails are the envy of all long-tailed steeds in town. The cream-colored coats and big buttons of the men on the box quite surpass the turnout of Attorney General Brewster. President Arthur proposes to add two more horses to his stable, and treat the city again to a four-in-hand.
Great Salt Lake in Utah is 4000 feet above the level of the sea, 100 miles long and twenty-five broad. It is water contains twenty-two percent of sodium. It has four other counties, each of which are as large as Massachusetts.

Letter from Missouri.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12, 1882.
Dear Patriot:—The holidays are over; turkey, plum pudding and mince pie all eaten; presents given and received; and New Year's calls made. I found that Thanksgiving was not thought so much of out here as it is in the East, for the very reason, I suppose, that each family is by itself and cannot invite all of their relatives to partake of the turkey, as they are far away and not easily brought together. A great many families enter the house on that day all to themselves, and I very fortunately received an invitation from such a one, and had a very pleasant time eating. I assure you, to keep up the reputation of a "Yankee." Turkey, plum, and cheap; selling, in most cases alive, for ten cents a pound. The merchants and manufacturers of the city have not yet fallen into the Eastern custom of giving their employees a turkey to carry home on the night preceding Thanksgiving, and if the laboring man wants one he must buy it himself.
Christmas is not made much of except by the young folks, and they watch as anxiously for "Santa Claus" in this place, as is done in any other. The stores here are preparing for the season, trimming up their windows, and every evening during the week preceding the holiday, Main street was almost impassable, owing to the crowds of people gazing at the different displays. One of which were exhibited under the electric light. As your humble servant got no present, he concludes that the "Santa Claus" of this part of the country does not fancy "Yankees." New Year's is considered by a great many of the well-to-do people, the greatest day of the three, and it is the custom for the ladies to keep open house, and in most instances, are very sorry to add to entertain their guests with "egg-nog," which you know is very apt to make one feel funny in the story. But such is the custom of the country. Right here let me tell you that you have no idea of the quantity of liquor drunk here every day; why, it is drunk by the quart, gallon, and I mean truly say by the barrel. A man is of no account unless he drinks and smokes, supports a silver watch with a plated chain, and carries a revolver. On Main street in the heart of the business portion of the city and around the market, most every store is a saloon, where every thing is sold as free as water. About four or five Brother Faxon or any other man.
On Grand avenue, which very much resembles, as far as the business is concerned, Washington street above Dover, Boston, the same trade is uppermost, and saloons "as thick as flies in summer time." It is very strange to me that I do not see more men carrying a brick in the top of their hat; but I have seen not more than a dozen since I have been out here, and I must attribute it to the purity of the liquor sold. It is true that there is considerable crime going on here every day, which may, in a great measure, be attributed to drink. We occasionally have a knock-down and robbery upon some of our principal streets in the early evening, and sometimes a row where shots are exchanged, and in some cases with fatal effect. One of the latter occurred a few days since, in which one of the best officers on the force was instantly killed, but not until his own pistol shot in his assailant, which will undoubtedly prove fatal.
We have had two train robberies in this vicinity since I have been here; the first only sixteen miles away, in which a body of masked men signalled the train to stop, and then it was "hands up" for all of the passengers. The conductor very kindly (?) went from one car to another notifying all that they were to be robbed, and that they had better get a part of their valuables ready to give up, and to hide the rest in their boots; that it was no use to resist, as it would be only instant death, and the only way to save anything was to be free with a part, and, as the robber came along to give it to him and let him throw it into a bag which was carried by another. Every person upon the train was relieved of something, and in many cases, of all they possessed, and upon arriving in the city had to seek aid from some of the citizens. Word was sent in all directions, notifying the different officials, and heavy rewards offered for the perpetrators. As yet but two or three of the lesser ones are captured, and now a reward of $50,000 is offered for the James boys, as they are supposed to be the leaders of everything of this kind.
The second robbery was in Kansas, and done by three boys in the same manner as the first. These boys were all boys sixteen, seventeen and eighteen years of age, and upon being caught a few days afterwards, said they wanted to be as smart as Jesse James, and get money enough to get married. They succeeded in getting about $15,000, most of which was in gold. Such is this country, and one cannot tell whether he is safe or not.

Posting at the Tariff. The Moral of the Mormon question. The Committee Dilemma. How to get out of the Mormon question.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17, 1882.
Now comes the tug between tariff and free trade, a question that, to some extent, makes havoc with Mason and Dixon's line, for, already, we see Messrs. Bayard and Beck on opposite sides. Mr. Bayard is influenced somewhat by his locus; the United States of Delaware is not Pennsylvania, and he is, perhaps, a little confused by presidential dreams. Mr. Beck's protection arguments say that he is also influenced by his locus, which is Scotland. Mr. Beck does not, however, advocate free trade pure and simple. He would tax imports sufficiently to keep twelve jurors in the box, which means the support of an Army, Navy, legislature, and civil service, but he would not tax imports with an object to stimulate and protect home manufactures. Now the Senate may debate till doom, at least to the doom of the 47th Congress, but everybody knows that the present Congress will not materially change the present revenue laws. Still, it is well to agitate, if for no other reason, that every farmer may not have to ask his neighbor what General Hancock said to have asked a Democratic senator: "Who is Tariff, and what does he want with revenue only."
In the House, they have been agitating the monogamy question, as relates the Mormons, and Mr. Haskell, of Kansas, has been positively lurid in his eloquence in denunciation of this crime against the civilization of the almost two-thirds country. We hear only the anti-Mormon side of this controversy, and the Mormons are very wrong, for Providence does not favor the weak battalions. But the Mormons plead, poor devils, that they support and acknowledge all their wives, while members of Congress, as a rule, recognize and support but one of their wives. We are right gentlemen representatives, and senators; the dense battalions are on our side, but let us not "point the rough and thorny way to heaven, while we, the prime-robes of dalliance tread and rock not our own road."
Speaker Keifer is having no little trouble to harmonize his party, and vindicate his committees. His latest proposition is to enlarge the committees, but it is doubtful if the House can be impressed with the efficacy of this remedy. Experience has taught deliberative bodies that large committees are unwieldy, and the tendency has been rather to create new committees for the consideration of special subjects. Mr. Kason will oppose the enlargement of the committees, and there is a prospect of a debate between him and Mr. Robinson, of New Jersey, on this subject.
You have, perhaps, heard of the diplomatic scandal, relative to the Russian Minister Bartholdie; how he came here with a woman who was not his wife; and how they have lived in a house without furniture, and have avoided social intercourse with the other legations, and high officials here, until the death of the late Car made it obligatory upon them to open their houses to receive condolence. Then they gave a state dinner, when the guests arrived, they were shown into the dining-room, and the wife of the diplomat, who is an Englishwoman, came from the kitchen with a turnover of soup, which she said had not been split in according to the Russian custom. The remaining courses of this strange repast were brought in by a caterer from the outside, and the hostess invited the guests to make themselves at home, and help yourself out of the dishes, which they did in picnic fashion, politely concealing their amusement and disgust. During the picnic, Madame told her guests that it was quite the thing to be illegitimate, that she, her husband, and all their children were illegitimate. Now that the diplomat has been recalled the scandal has been thrown upon the winds and, if it shall help to bring into dispute these utterly useless too expensive diplomatic establishments, it will have done some good. ADAMS.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JAN. 28, 1882.

Fire at Wollaston.

A large amount of property was destroyed by fire on Monday evening last, which occurred in Quincy for many months. Mr. Daniel Whittemore, the manufacturer of logs and shoe machinery, in the long brick block at Wollaston, had his beautiful residence entirely destroyed by fire, together with considerable furniture. It was situated near Mr. Farrington McInnes's residence, on the Heights, and was one of the best houses at Wollaston. The fire caught in the ell, near the chimney, and it is supposed that there must have been some defect in the same. The wind was blowing a perfect gale, and the thermometer below zero. The fire department turned out bravely, but the intense cold made the machines almost useless.

The fire burned very slow and it was nearly a half hour after it was first discovered in the ell, before it entered the main house; giving those present a grand chance to save most of the nice furniture in the main house.

To the citizens of Wollaston, the thanks of the members of the Fire Department are due a thousand times, and more especially to the ladies, for their care and attention bestowed upon those who were unfortunate enough to have their ears and hands frozen. With willing hands they went to work, and after serving them with hot coffee, loaned them scarfs, handkerchiefs, gloves and other articles.

The house was insured for $10,000. In North America $5,000; in Lancaster, England, $5,000; which is said to fully cover the loss. The furniture was insured for $5,000, which will more than cover the loss.

Universalist Levee.

As briefly announced in the PATRIOT of last week, this old time festival will take place at the Town Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 8th.

This levee is always looked forward to with interest by our citizens, and the several committees having the entertainment in charge are determined to make this occasion fully as enjoyable as any in former years. With this in view they are sparing no pains to perfect the necessary arrangements, and have induced the Quincy Dramatic Club to repeat their great success of last year. "Noemie, or the Foster Sisters," this play had a run of over a hundred nights when it was produced in London, and we are able to state from personal observation that the drama, as arranged and performed by the Quincy Dramatic Club is one of intense interest from beginning to end.

"Noemie" is a French play, of the French school, and while being of an emotional character, yet possesses several opportunities for fine acting, which are fully improved. It contains comedy enough to keep the audience in a pleasant mood, and as they will not produce the same, "Is the Editor in?" all who wish to laugh will have no occasion to confine their mirth.

The refreshments, dancing and sale table, will be conducted with the usual care, and if we judge by the past, this entertainment will be thoroughly enjoyed by all who attend.

We refer our readers to the advertisement which will be found in its proper place.

TEMPERANCE. The attendance at the temperance meeting on Sunday evening last, was not so largely attended as was expected. The weather was very disagreeable, and an earnest interest was felt, a much larger number could have been present. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Wm. Leavitt, and Mr. G. F. Hollick of Malden, made a short and stirring speech, which was received with much approval. Mrs. H. Josie Cross, of Boston, then gave a reading, which was followed by singing and speaking. Not having an organist present, but few hymns were sung by the audience.

There will be another meeting next Sunday evening at Paxton Hall, to which all persons interested in temperance are earnestly invited to be present. Addresses are expected from C. Cross of East Cambridge, and from Mr. Fenton and others.

THE PUBLIC PARK. Representative Charles H. Porter and Hon. John Quincy Adams were before the House Judiciary Committee, at the State House this morning, supporting a petition of the Memorial Park Association for authority to lay out and maintain a public park in Quincy. The same to be a portion of the Butler farm, extending from Hancock street to the beach, bordering on Quincy bay. The farm having been left to the town by the late Dr. Ebenezer Woodward.

COLD WEATHER. The weather on Tuesday morning last was the coldest in Quincy and vicinity, for many years. The thermometer ranged from twenty to nineteen below zero. The weather throughout Monday was fearful, a keen, sharp, piercing north wind blew terribly, making it a most disagreeable day to be out. Tuesday was a colder day, but the wind was more calm, and it did not appear so unpleasant.

SALES. Among the private sales published in the Boston Herald, we notice the following in Quincy:—
Harrison C. Baker has sold to Laura W. Blake, land on Newport avenue, Wollaston, for $1,000.
Hannah Minihan has sold to Julia Minihan, land and buildings on the west side of Third street, West Quincy, for $2,000.

ACCIDENT. The Boston Herald says that Mr. James H. Bell, a driver of C. E. Farwell Engine, met with an accident in Quincy on Monday afternoon. He slipped beneath the horse's feet, and the frightened animal stepped upon him, fracturing his collar bone. He was removed to his home in Hyde Park.

Brief Locals.

Slighting has gone.
The weather was quite March like yesterday.
Rev. H. Egan Cotton will hold services at the Almshouse, to-morrow, at 3 o'clock.
The Japanese kettle drum entertainment takes place on Monday evening next, at the Town Hall.
Mr. Harry S. Luce one of the active granite dealers at West Quincy, has been in Maine, this week, on business.
Have you carried in your demands against the town. The Selectmen are anxious to receive all bills that are due.

Several young ladies of this town propose holding a coffee party at the Town Hall, on the evening of February 8th.
This has been one of the most disagreeable weeks of the season. First windy and cold, then rainy and slippery; finally warm and muddy.
Paul Bevers Post will be visited by the Commander of Norfolk County, accompanied by his staff and other comrades on Thursday, Feb. 9th.

Master Charlie Hall, only son of John W. Hall, was surprised by his schoolmates on Monday evening. A very happy time was enjoyed by the young folks.
D. B. Stetson has just received a lot of new ladies' boots and shoes, and is selling them at the same low prices.

Clan McGee celebrated the anniversary of Robert Burns' birthday at Grand Army Hall, on Wednesday evening. A real Scottish supper was served and a general good time was enjoyed.
We are pleased to learn that Mr. J. Q. A. Field is recovering from his illness, which has confined him to his house for a few days. He accidentally stuck a rusty nail into his foot the first of the week.

The alarm of fire at Atlantic, on Sunday night last, was occasioned by a chimney on fire in the house of Mr. C. Graham, on Old Colony street. The Chemical Engine of that place was promptly on hand.

Joseph W. Lombard will sell at auction on Wednesday afternoon next, a lot of household furniture at the late residence of Samuel Curtis, on Franklin street. For full particulars see notice in another column.

All persons who have not paid their taxes had better do so at once if they do not want their names to appear in the annual town report. The collector gives the delinquents a warning through our columns this week.

Prof. Walker, the popular teacher of dancing, will give a course of twelve lessons, in Quincy, commencing on Saturday, Feb. 11th. Mr. Walker always meets with a warm reception from his many friends in this place.

A debate was held in the Lyceum Room, on Thursday evening, by the Young Men's Democratic Club, on the following question:—Resolved, that under our existing laws the liquor question is not a political or party measure.

Mrs. John D. Whitcher's carriage got badly injured on Thursday. The horse became frightened on Hancock street, and in attempting to pass between a fence and a tree, broke the carriage. Fortunately she was not in it at the time.

The Union Band of this town, Quincy, commencing on Wednesday the 8th inst. It is to be continued for several weeks. A very handsome sleigh is to be presented to the person receiving the largest number of votes.

Mr. Wm. H. Baldwin of the Young Men's Christian Union will deliver a discourse in the First Church, Sunday evening on "A layman's views of Sunday and the Christian church."

The public and especially the young people are invited. Services begin at 7 o'clock.

The first conference of the visitors of the Associated Charities will be held in the Lyceum room at the Town Hall, next Tuesday, Jan. 31, at 3 o'clock, p. m. Mrs. James T. Fields of Boston, will be present and will talk over the work to be done. Ladies who already are visitors or who think of volunteering to be such are invited to attend.

TESTED. The new telegraphic fire-alarm in Marblehead was thoroughly tested last week and gave satisfaction.

PASSED AWAY. Among the deaths this week will be found that of one of our oldest citizens, Mr. Josiah Adams, who died at his son's residence yesterday.

Mr. Adams resided in his house opposite Col. Packard's estate for over fifty years. He was a quiet, gentlemanly man and was greatly respected by his neighbors and friends. He was a pensioner of the war of 1812. His widow still survives him. They were the oldest couple in town having lived together over sixty-four years.

A GOLDEN WEDDING. One of those generally pleasing events took place on the 18th inst., when Rev. Dr. Cornell and wife celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Our readers will remember that they formerly resided in Quincy and that Dr. Cornell was the first pastor of the church now under the pastoral care of the Rev. Mr. Norton. They were visited on that occasion by some of their former parishioners of this town, and many relatives and friends, who left some pleasant remembrances of their esteem.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING. S. John's Church was filled on Thursday morning, to witness the marriage ceremony between Mr. James Clark of Chicago, and Miss Ellen F. daughter of Mr. Hugh Minis of this town. The bride was elegantly dressed in white satin, and, as usual with all brides, looked lovely. The happy couple left in the afternoon for Chicago, their future home.

RECEIVED. The Rev. Mr. James E. Smith of Abington, the Universalist minister who has gone over to the Congregationalists, left Abington on Thursday for Denver, Colorado, where he is to take charge of a religious society under the auspices of the Home Missionary Society of New York.

THE W. C. T. U. of Norfolk County will hold a convention, Wednesday Feb. 13th, at South Weymouth. Sessions at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. All Unionists are invited.

SIXTEEN out of twenty-one Massachusetts cities report smaller delinquencies than one year ago. Among these is Boston, whose indebtedness is $24,246,046.60, against $26,658,456.41 the last year of 1880.

AN old and valued subscriber has handed us the following witty anecdote which he said he had heard his father tell a great many times. The Rev. Mr. Anthony Winchell, pastor of the First Church in Quincy, was a bachelor. Mr. Thompson Baxter, one of the leading men of his church, was a man whom it was supposed his wife had complete control over. He and Mr. Winchell were talking together one day, when a man passed the house who was very, very ragged, his breeches being literally gone, used up.

"Ah!" says Mr. Winchell, with a good deal of dignity, "on the contrary, Mr. Baxter, I should rather suppose him to be a man whose wife wears the breeches; for I see he has none."

THE business before the District Court remains very quiet. It is too near election time for the officers to do much duty.

WINSLOW T. NASH, of Quincy, was arraigned for an assault in and upon one Mary Jane Kelly of Braintree, and committing larceny by stealing from her person the sum of $15. After hearing a number of witnesses on each side, the judge deemed the evidence insufficient, and Nash was discharged.

Quincy Point Items.

The second lecture of the C. U. Church course, was delivered Thursday evening by Prof. G. G. Bush before quite a large audience. The subject was "Joppa to the Jordan," and the lecturer described the journey, the people and the scenery, and gave a number of traditions and anecdotes in an interesting manner. The third lecture has been postponed from February 24 to Tuesday, February 27th.

Mr. King of Dedham, is to fill the position of principal of the Washington School. We hope to see this school advance under his administration, and are pleased to hear that he intends to stay as long as—circumstances will permit.

Other Brown arrested two men for being drunk and fighting, on Washington street, Wednesday. One was released and the other was brought before Judge Bumpus, where he received the usual fine.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society met Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Nettie M. Barry on Washington street, and the members were provided with a beautiful collation by their hostess, who entertained her guests in a most acceptable manner.

The genial Mr. W. M. Stevens will be greatly missed, not only by his scholars, but by the large circle of friends which he has made during his residence here. That he and his estimable wife may find their new home and associates pleasant and agreeable is the sincere wish of all the people.

Miss Nettie M. Barry and Mr. Luther M. Hursey were united in marriage, Wednesday evening, by Rev. G. H. Hastings, at the residence of the bride, on Washington street. There were a large number of relatives present, and the wedding gifts were neat and pretty. After the ceremony the company partook of a fine supper. During the evening the happy couple received many congratulations and good wishes for their future happiness.

The meeting of the Quincy Point Temperance Association, took place on Wednesday evening. On account of other attractions, the reading of Pickwick was postponed for one week.

The P. Q. P. H. P. C. rallied in full force Thursday, to serenade their newly married member, Mr. L. M. Hersey. The music was appropriate to the occasion and speedily drew the recipient from his home. A presentation was made, but no speech was necessary.

Miss Hattie Forbes gave a party to a few of her young friends, Friday evening, the 26th inst. The time was spent very pleasantly in playing those games in which children take much delight. The visitors went to the Wollaston fire Monday night, and from its pipe came the only stream of any size worth mentioning, but even that was of no practical use, the building being in ruins. If this fire with its attendant incidents does not convince the people of Wollaston and all others who were there, of the need of a steam fire engine and a telegraphic fire alarm, nothing will do so. Only think of a building taking fire, in a town the size of Quincy, and no effective stream of water played upon it until nearly two hours after the discovery of the fire. Under a proper system it is safe to say a reliable service would have been at work in less than ten minutes. The firemen, who did the best they could with the apparatus at their disposal, deserve credit for the efforts they made under such trying circumstances. Several members of No. 4 were frost-bitten.

There was a rehearsal Monday evening of the Braintrust High School Association, which occurs in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 2, are progressing smoothly, and indications point to the most successful gathering ever held by the association, which, as our readers well know, is saying a good deal in its favor. Brown's Brigade Orchestra, eight pieces, will furnish music for an opening concert and also for dancing, and Tufts of Boston will cater. The literary exercises will include an oration by Mr. E. E. Sprague, and the reading of an original poem by Miss Maria A. Keith. The number of tickets for sale is limited, as it is not proposed to crowd the hall. A few remain, however, in the hands of the President, Mr. Will. W. Mayhew, of Braintree, and other members of the executive committee. Young people who may attend from other towns will be specially "looked after."

LIQUOR LICENSES. Of the cities and towns making returns to the Secretary of State relative to the number of licenses to sell liquor within their limits issued during the year 1881, the people of nineteen voted that such a paper should be forth, and that they should not, they could not be granted. The number of licenses issued was 2831, of which Boston had 2287, Lawrence 285, Lowell 236, Worcester 162, Fall River 335, Cambridge 155, Holyoke 118, Haverhill 67, Newburyport 104, Pittsfield 61 and Quincy 42.

SLEIGH PARTY. Last Saturday twelve young ladies and gentlemen of the Willard School took a sleigh ride to Brighton. They left Quincy about ten o'clock and arrived in Brighton at noon. They stopped at the Albany House, where they enjoyed a good dinner and had music at their disposal. Late in the afternoon the party started for home, where they arrived safely, after having a very pleasant time. They were accompanied by Mr. William H. Glennon's barge of West Quincy.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING. S. John's Church was filled on Thursday morning, to witness the marriage ceremony between Mr. James Clark of Chicago, and Miss Ellen F. daughter of Mr. Hugh Minis of this town. The bride was elegantly dressed in white satin, and, as usual with all brides, looked lovely. The happy couple left in the afternoon for Chicago, their future home.

THE W. C. T. U. of Norfolk County will hold a convention, Wednesday Feb. 13th, at South Weymouth. Sessions at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. All Unionists are invited.

SIXTEEN out of twenty-one Massachusetts cities report smaller delinquencies than one year ago. Among these is Boston, whose indebtedness is $24,246,046.60, against $26,658,456.41 the last year of 1880.

AN old and valued subscriber has handed us the following witty anecdote which he said he had heard his father tell a great many times. The Rev. Mr. Anthony Winchell, pastor of the First Church in Quincy, was a bachelor. Mr. Thompson Baxter, one of the leading men of his church, was a man whom it was supposed his wife had complete control over. He and Mr. Winchell were talking together one day, when a man passed the house who was very, very ragged, his breeches being literally gone, used up.

"Ah!" says Mr. Winchell, with a good deal of dignity, "on the contrary, Mr. Baxter, I should rather suppose him to be a man whose wife wears the breeches; for I see he has none."

THE business before the District Court remains very quiet. It is too near election time for the officers to do much duty.

WINSLOW T. NASH, of Quincy, was arraigned for an assault in and upon one Mary Jane Kelly of Braintree, and committing larceny by stealing from her person the sum of $15. After hearing a number of witnesses on each side, the judge deemed the evidence insufficient, and Nash was discharged.

LIQUOR LICENSES. Of the cities and towns making returns to the Secretary of State relative to the number of licenses to sell liquor within their limits issued during the year 1881, the people of nineteen voted that such a paper should be forth, and that they should not, they could not be granted. The number of licenses issued was 2831, of which Boston had 2287, Lawrence 285, Lowell 236, Worcester 162, Fall River 335, Cambridge 155, Holyoke 118, Haverhill 67, Newburyport 104, Pittsfield 61 and Quincy 42.

SLEIGH PARTY. Last Saturday twelve young ladies and gentlemen of the Willard School took a sleigh ride to Brighton. They left Quincy about ten o'clock and arrived in Brighton at noon. They stopped at the Albany House, where they enjoyed a good dinner and had music at their disposal. Late in the afternoon the party started for home, where they arrived safely, after having a very pleasant time. They were accompanied by Mr. William H. Glennon's barge of West Quincy.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING. S. John's Church was filled on Thursday morning, to witness the marriage ceremony between Mr. James Clark of Chicago, and Miss Ellen F. daughter of Mr. Hugh Minis of this town. The bride was elegantly dressed in white satin, and, as usual with all brides, looked lovely. The happy couple left in the afternoon for Chicago, their future home.

RECEIVED. The Rev. Mr. James E. Smith of Abington, the Universalist minister who has gone over to the Congregationalists, left Abington on Thursday for Denver, Colorado, where he is to take charge of a religious society under the auspices of the Home Missionary Society of New York.

Farin and Garden.

Winter Exposure.

The importance of giving proper shelter to all farm animals can not be too strongly urged. Looked at simply in the view of dollars and cents, it does not pay to have the sheep, pigs, cattle, or horses, left out of doors in the piercing winter winds. The animal heat must be kept up so long as life lasts, and to do this, either a larger amount of fuel must be consumed, or the fire will be fed by accumulated or stored up fuel in the form of flesh, and the animal grows poorer. It is cheaper, as far as it can be, to keep up the animal heat by shelter than by food. A shivering, suffering animal is not in a profitable condition. There is also an appeal to the humane side of our nature in this lack of comfort. Provide good shelter for the weather for all farm animals, for it pays in more ways than one. -American Agriculturist.

PLANTS.

Garden water is a first rate manure for greenhouse and window plants. It is no potent nostrum; we know what it is, and that it is good. But in addition to being highly esteemed food for the roots of plants, as a wash for the leaves it is also excellent. Be your plants outside or in the house, no matter. You syringe them with clear guano water, and you will soon discover the difference. The foliage and immunity from insects over those syringed with plain water. Red spiders, thrips and mealy bugs hate guano water. Nor does the guano water leave a sediment upon the foliage, as most of the expensive ones do. In this fashion, into a bucketful of soft water mix a teaspoonful of guano; stir well, and leave for a day or two to settle; then pour off the water into another vessel, taking care not to stir up the sediment. Add about as much more clean water, then use as freely as you please. -Rural New Yorker.

ENSLAVE.

Experiments in feeding ensilage are reported as follows: J. W. Jones & Co., of Bridgton, Me., ensilage hocks and stalks at their canning factory; eighteen acres were fed for four weeks and a record kept. In eight days it was found that they had gained an aggregate of 1965 pounds. The greatest gain of one acre was 135 pounds, and the next highest pair 110 pounds.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JAN. 28, 1882.

For the Patriot.

Falling Snow.

Softly falls the beautiful snow,

Covering hills and valley below.

Dravily falls in the churchyard near,

Merrily falls, making frolic queer.

Strange thoughts the coming snow recalls,

As it drifts, merrily falls;

Sad and jolly things enter our minds,

We think how the wheel of fortune glides.

Slowly for the poor this winter days,

Fast for the rich, 'tis "Old friends" say;

Some will be without shelter to-night,

Some have much to make cheerful and bright.

We should then on whom God has bestowed,

More than the portion to those allowed,

Find the unfortunate far and near,

And make for them a "Happy New Year."

F. E. F.

Farin and Garden.

Winter Exposure.

The importance of giving proper shelter to all farm animals can not be too strongly urged. Looked at simply in the view of dollars and cents, it does not pay to have the sheep, pigs, cattle, or horses, left

THE G. A. R. BOYS. On Thursday evening, Paul Revere Post, of this town, received an official visit from Commander Benjamin S. Lovell and staff, of the Norfolk County Division, and some forty members from Weymouth and Hyde Park. They were received in the usual cordial manner, which is always extended to visiting comrades. Several comrades from Post 102 of Milton, were also present. After the regular routine of business was disposed of, stirring remarks on the good of the order were made by Commander Lovell. The Post Commander, D. W. Lewis of Hyde Park, their genial Chaplain, Rev. E. A. Perry, and others. About ten o'clock all sat down to a well spread table and enjoyed the best of good things. After supper, one of those fine old camp smokes, interspersed with good stories happily told, was enjoyed until near midnight, when the visiting comrades took their departure for home, feeling well repaid for their visit in an uncomfortable storm.

A NICE TIME. All who attended the Universalist levee at the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening, must have had a fine time, as it was one of the best ever given by the Society. The hall was full, some six hundred persons being present.

THE ENTERTAINMENT by the Quincy Dramatic Club was excellent, and was highly appreciated. The music, furnished by Hobb's band, of Boston, was greatly enjoyed by the dancers, who kept the floor full until the hour designated for closing.

PERSONAL. Mrs. Thomas Crane and son of New York, the generous donors of the new Thomas Crane Memorial Library, were in town Wednesday, and visited the new building. They were conveyed about town by Charles F. Adams, Jr., in a splendid turnout recently purchased by our distinguished townsman, which is said to be quite costly and one of the finest ever owned in Quincy. The horses were young and smart and made a very attractive appearance.

SINGULAR DOCUMENT. Among the wills allowed at Probate Court on Wednesday, was that of Patrick McCue of Weymouth. The entire property, both real and personal, is left to one son, James A. McCue, with a request that the others be given a home while they remain unmarried. There are four other children who are intentionally left nothing.

WHAT IF OSCAR WILDE can now see a next summer's snowfall? We too, know "there's something in the air." While the old Oscar says dew drops and butterfly boots—beneath the shade of an expansive necktie—he it known that there is to be a sumptuous feast at the Town Hall, on the 22d. See advertisement.

HON. ASA FRENCH. Governor Long has tendered to Hon. Asa French of Braintree, District Attorney of Norfolk and Plymouth counties, the associate judgeship of the Superior Court, made vacant by the death of Judge Wilkinson, and it is probable that he will accept.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE. The Committee on Woman's Suffrage gave a second hearing at the State House on Tuesday, in order to give the remonstrants a hearing; but, as no one appeared, the time was occupied by those in favor of it.

WEYMOUTH. Mr. Freeman Whitmarsh, the oldest person in Weymouth, died at his residence on Sunday, of pneumonia, aged 93 years. He had been in poor health for the past year.

JURORS. Messrs. C. C. Johnson and Franklin Curtis have been drawn to serve as jurors at the February term of the Supreme Judicial Court for Norfolk County.

PUBLIC PARK. The bill to provide for the laying out of a public park in the town of Quincy was passed before the House on Tuesday, to be engrossed without debate.

MILTON. Rev. Calvin G. Hill, formerly of Walpole, Mass., was installed as pastor of the First Congregational Church (Dr. Todd's) at Lower Mills Wednesday afternoon.

THE MASSACHUSETTS Press Association will hold its annual meeting and dinner in Boston, next Wednesday at the Revere House.

THE Legislature is asked to put $10,000 into the Soldiers' Home treasury and will probably do it.

Brief Locals.

Mr. Dr. K. Flint had an upset while driving, on Friday morning.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Henry McGrath is on the sick list.

Rev. Mr. Norton preaches at the Christian Union Church, Quincy Point, to-morrow.

We have a very interesting letter in the PATRIOT this week from a Quincy boy in New Mexico.

The friends of Dr. Butler will be pleased to learn that he was more comfortable yesterday morning.

Rev. Mr. Hastings of the Christian Union Church, will preach at the almshouse, to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. John L. Maxim has our thanks for a neat little paper printed in Wintthrop, Me., the town where she resides.

Mr. Jacob H. Hersey has probably sailed for home this week. We are under obligations to him for a Paris newspaper.

There has been but one death in Quincy for the past fortnight. A small number for a town of over 10,000 population.

The members of St. Paul's Lodge will find a special notice in our columns to-day which will be of interest to them.

Never were the churches in Quincy so slimly attended, we think, as on Sunday last, owing to the big snow storm.

Eight or ten persons braved the storm on Sunday, to attend services at the Congregational Church, but there was no service.

A public temperance meeting will be held in Faxon Hall to-morrow evening. Persons from abroad are expected to entertain the audience.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company on Thursday, the report of the Secretary showed no unpaid losses.

The Town Clerk has received for distribution the laws and resolves passed at a special session of the Massachusetts Legislature which convened in November last.

Captain Noah Cummings and wife were upset while driving in Boston on Wednesday. Mrs. Cummings received some bruises, but fortunately escaped any serious injury.

The big snow storm on Saturday and Sunday last completely blocked our streets, and has caused a good deal of shoveling to be done; and has cost the town many hundred dollars.

The committees of the recent levee, given by the Universalist Society, are reminded that there will be a meeting at Faxon Hall on Wednesday evening next, to settle all accounts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hardwick, with their daughter Miss Lizzie, left home on Friday last week for a trip to Florida. They spent Sunday in Washington.

Mrs. J. M. Holt, who is spending the winter in Florida, writes to friends in this place, that it is unusually warm there, and that mosquitoes are troublesome.

Mr. Bryant N. Adams' horse got frightened by a dog on Tuesday, and started up rather suddenly, and plunged into a snow bank, leaving the sleigh and its occupant in the street.

George Washington made a happy hit when he selected the 22d for a birthday. It just coincides with the date chosen for the superb entertainment to be given in the Town Hall.

One of our citizens was before the District Court this week for keeping a dog without a license, and the cost and fines amounted to some nineteen dollars and more. We would advise our town people who keep dogs not to attempt to evade this law, as it is expensive business.

Billy, an old family horse belonging to Captain Cummings, was unfortunate in getting his hind leg through the scuttle hole during Sunday night, he being found in that position Monday morning. Help was secured and he was soon released without receiving any serious injury.

GUTEAU. According to Warden Crocker, Guteau has become as docile as a lamb. He doesn't insist upon having his own way as he did during the trial, and does what he is ordered with or without a murmur. He has lost much of his accustomed bravado, and does not seem so excited in conversation. General Crocker says he does not believe any man under sentence of death ever more fully appreciated the awful situation than Guteau. He has become very much depressed in spirits and shows it. He is denied the privilege of seeing visitors now altogether, and this seems to worry him. John W. Guteau had an interview with him previous to his departure for Boston. The jail officials have taken every precaution against the occurrence of any thing that may cheat the gallows or any of the pleasures of the event. No company then repaired to the lower hall where refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream, cakes, pies and coffee. This part of the entertainment was duly appreciated. The company then enjoyed the remaining time in playing games, and about twelve o'clock the gathering made their adieu and left for their homes, having enjoyed a few hours very happily. Rising Sun Lodge was fully represented on this occasion.

DORCHESTER DISTRICT. The funeral of Mrs. Delight Simple, an aged resident of Lower Mills, took place on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Simple had reached the advanced age of 93 years, and for twenty years had lived in the house where she died.

Thaddeus M. H. Stetson, an old and respected resident of the Lower Mills, died suddenly at his home on Washington street, Wednesday morning. He had been in his usual health until Tuesday afternoon, when he was taken ill and expired at about 3 o'clock the next morning. Mr. Stetson was a native of Dorchester and was 73 years of age.

Dorchester Division, S. of T., celebrated its anniversary at the 129th anniversary of the organization of the First Congregational Church, which was held last summer. It also has engravings of three of the meeting-houses that have successively occupied the site of the present structure, and for similar copies of ancient documents pertaining to the original organization of the parish. The compilation is of great interest, and an invaluable record of the early history of Randolph.

The commissioner of internal revenue reports that the quantity of spirits in distillery warehouses on Jan. 1st, 1881, was 2,896,014 gallons, which is about 40,000,000 in excess of last year.

The largest clock ever issued in Pennsylvania was drawn one day last week, by Drexel & Co., and sent to the State Treasury to pay for State bonds recently bid by that firm. The amount was $67,677,666.75.

Quincy Point Items.

Rev. H. B. Shaffer, of Newton, will preach at the Baptist Chapel to-morrow.

The snow storm of Saturday night blocked our roads badly, but notwithstanding the large amount of snow which fell and blew into immense drifts, Washington street was open for travel Monday morning and Tuesday afternoon.

The sidewalks were cleared. We hear objects were made to working upon the Neck roads Sunday. If so, we don't believe any one ought to imperil the lives and property of his neighbors on account of personal feeling against Sunday labor.

No services were held in either of the churches last Sunday.

The Sabbath school concert which was to have been given in the C. U. Church last Sunday evening, has been postponed until one week from to-morrow.

The lecture by Rev. A. B. Keating given in the C. U. Church, Tuesday evening, was well attended considering the bad walking. The subject was "The Model Man," and the lecturer very eloquently described his ideal man in Quincy by illustrating the habits of its model ones. The audience listened attentively to the many good points made by the lecturer, and the discourse was declared to be excellent. The men now want to hear the same gentleman deliver the companion lecture which he has, entitled "The Model Woman." We think the parish committee could arrange for his delivery after Mr. Slade's lecture without losing any money.

The Herald is appreciated at the Point. Mr. James M. Black traveled four miles on snow shoes last Sunday to get Mr. Federhen's copy.

Sixteen vessels passed through the Point draw-bridge, during the month of January.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society met Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. H. M. Federhen.

The Vulture Engine Company held its regular meeting Monday evening. Nothing of importance transpired.

The Quincy Police Association held its regular meeting, on Wednesday evening, the time being devoted to reading of selections from Pickwick papers. The vote passed by the association some time since to arrange for bringing out a large "No" vote on the license question, has been altered in the opinion of a committee of ladies and gentlemen from all parts of the town, which has arranged for a series of public meetings to be held in the various sections between now and election day. Good speakers will be provided, many of whom will be citizens of the town, having the subject especially at heart.

"T. A. R. J." We said the Vulture's stream didn't do much more good than the rest of them. If you call that speaking highly of one company and leaving another out in the cold, you have queer judgment. Read the Point items over again carefully, throw aside your prejudice, and we think you will say it was fair to all, if it wasn't, we intended it to be. The "water in the street" is well accounted for, by the fact that the Vulture was assigned a position, which for some reason or other unknown to us, was not occupied by one of the two engines which arrived upon the ground much before the Vulture, whose men were tired out by a three mile run.

The French residents held one of their customary gatherings at the residence of Mr. Benjamin Delory, Thursday evening, and despite the rain, the attendance was fair and all had a jolly good time.

The attendance at the "neck-tie party" given by the ladies connected with the C. U. Church, at the Neck school house, Thursday evening, was smaller than usual owing to the rain storm. A great many were present however and enjoyed the good things provided by the committee.

Mr. James H. Slade will deliver the fourth and last lecture of the course in the C. U. Church, next Thursday evening; subject—Salt Lake City and its people. Considering the prominence of the Mormon question, the lecture will be of unusual interest.

INSTALLATION AND SOCIABLE. On Tuesday evening, Hancock Lodge, G. G. Templars, held a public installation and sociable at Faxon Hall. There were about one hundred and fifty persons present. The following officers elected for the ensuing term were installed by G. W. D. Walsh of Neponset:—

W. C. T.—L. M. Holt.

W. F. T.—Josie Munroe.

W. Secretary—Vesta J. Rich.

W. C.—A. S. Dodge.

W. M.—Harry Pratt.

W. D. M.—S. J. Quailley.

W. F. S.—James F. Craig.

W. T.—John Elliott.

W. J. G.—A. Elliott.

W. O. G.—Henry Chubbuck.

R. H. S.—Lizzie Owens.

L. H. S.—Virtue A. Brown.

At the conclusion of the installation services, the audience were highly entertained by an amateur colored minstrel troupe, which added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. No company then repaired to the lower hall where refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream, cakes, pies and coffee. This part of the entertainment was duly appreciated. The company then enjoyed the remaining time in playing games, and about twelve o'clock the gathering made their adieu and left for their homes, having enjoyed a few hours very happily. ### West Quincy Items.

The Band Fair opened on Wednesday evening last with favorable prospects. The tables looked very pretty and seemed to be well patronized.

The Band played fairly a few selections during the remainder of the fair there is to be dancing each evening from nine to eleven o'clock; humorous readings, piano solo and singing during the remaining hours. Mr. John Sprague and Mr. James Elcock are the competitors for the sleight; any one wishing to send votes for either of these two gentlemen can do so by sending to F. E. Kimball.

We understand there to be two public temperance meetings in Forest Hill; the date are yet to be announced.

Mrs. Wheeler, an old lady living with her son on Cemetery street, was stricken with paralysis on Wednesday morning last. It seems after her son had left for work in the morning she went to close the door after him, when she must have fallen, as she was found helpless about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss E. M. Fletcher, one of our public teachers has been promoted to a school in Atlantic.

Rev. C. M. Westlake intends holding a series of contracted meetings.

Do not forget the fair of the Ladies Aid Society which will commence next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Alonzo Gilman is building quite a large henry where he intends to raise the breed of fowl.

A considerable number of the friends and relatives of Mrs. Marshall, widow of William Marshall, resided at this village for nearly six years, who have since upon her last Wednesday, to congratulate her upon her seventy-seventh birthday.

Two of our well-known residents, A. T. Stearns, Esq., and Mr. Frank L. Pierce, have left for Florida.

The Hatton Quartette will give a grand concert at Wood's Hall, Monday evening.

The clergy were generally on hand last Sunday, but had very few hearers.

Neponset bridge is generally the first place that is bare in lightning time.

On Wednesday and Thursday last, teams were carting snow on the bridge from the Quincy side of the river.

Without any disposition to interfere with the carpenter's business who repairs the bridge, we suggest the propriety of this movement as a matter of economy, to prevent the horses from cutting out the plank, when the shoes are sharpened for winter travel.

The loss of the Dorchester Mutual Fire Insurance Company, by fire the past year, were much less than in former years. The company is in an excellent condition, as will be noticed by the advertisement in your columns.

Braintree.

On account of the storm the sound of the church going bell was not heard in our town last Sabbath. There was no place like home, sweet home.

Mr. Charles Hammond died at the south part of the town Sunday night, Feb. 5; his age was a few days more than 49 years. He has been a citizen of Braintree for a number of years and those who knew him best will remember him as a genial companion, a kind friend, a good neighbor, and a noble-hearted man. His shopmates from the factory of W. A. Ross gave evidence of their respect for him in the beautiful words which they placed upon his casket, and by following his remains on Monday from his late residence to the depot. His native place was Peru, in the State of Maine, and his remains were taken there for interment. Rev. Mr. Brightman officiated at the services.

A Steigh Ride.

The scholars of the A and D grammar class of the Adams school were invited on Friday afternoon of last week, by their principal, Mr. Mead, to take a sleigh ride to his home at Hingham.

The party were most hospitably entertained by his parents, and after partaking of a bountiful repast, started on their homeward journey and were landed in safety by their skilful driver, Mr. W. H. Cook. ONE OF THE PARTY.

ROSES. All lovers of choice flowers should send to the Dingee & Conard Co., West Grove, Pa., for some of their lovely roses. These roses are certain to bloom, and are the finest in the world. They are sent safely by mail postpaid to all post-offices in the United States. This company is perfectly reliable, and noted for liberal dealing. They give money in premiums and prizes more roses than most establishments grow. Send for their New Guide, a complete treatise on the Rose, (70 pages, elegantly illustrated), free. See advertisement in this paper.

A man residing on Davis street, Beverly has been annoyed considerably by strange noises at night, and could not account for them. Tuesday night he was awakened, and having no faith in spiritualism, he determined to investigate, which resulted in finding a large hole through a partition leading into a lounge; tearing out the strings he found a mouse hole, and sixteen large potatoes which nearly filled a peck measure stowed away by his ratship.

Switzerland has a law in some of its cantons forbidding the destruction of a tree without planting another to take its place. If such a law had prevailed in the United States, five or even twenty years ago there would not be such a dearth of timber now. It is not too late perhaps to try the experiment.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD'S ILLNESS. The committee on expenses attending the illness of President Garfield have agreed to appropriate $8000 for expenses incurred by the Sergeant-at-Arms. Dr. Bliss sent a statement of services of himself and associates, leaving the matter of compensation entirely to the committee.

Ladies visiting Boston will find it to their interest to make purchases of ribbons, flowers, millinery goods, hosiery, underwear, etc., at the Tremont House, opposite the State House, during this month. A large and varied stock of desirable goods for ladies and children, and low prices have rendered Butler's a popular resort with ladies, while its location is conveniently reached by horse-cars from all the railroad depots.

Howard Street Difficulties.

There is a street running from Quincy avenue to South street, named Howard street. The families living on it complain that they are not treated in a manner fair and impartial, on occasions such as have occurred twice during the past year, in reference to the deep snows which have covered the ground and made travelling so difficult. On the portion of this street between Quincy avenue and the store situated thereon, and near the junction of the two streets there are three or four families, who are obliged to travel over this street to the store, schools and churches.

Now on that part of the street from the store running easterly to South street, the authorities have seen fit to shovel out the street for the passage of the vehicles, and the sidewalk for the accommodation of foot passengers. From the store running westerly to Quincy avenue, they have simply caused a narrow passage to be broken through for the passage of the vehicles, and the sidewalk for the accommodation of foot passengers. The families living on it complain that they are not treated in a manner fair and impartial, on occasions such as have occurred twice during the past year, in reference to the deep snows which have covered the ground and made travelling so difficult. On the portion of this street between Quincy avenue and the store situated thereon, and near the junction of the two streets there are three or four families, who are obliged to travel over this street to the store, schools and churches.

Mr. French was the son of Asa and Mable (Hollis) French, and was a lineal descendant of John French, who is said to have been the first settler in what is now known as the town of Braintree. Mr. French was born in Braintree March 18, 1802, and died there in his eightieth year. He received his education at our common schools, and married Sarah B. Hayward, daughter of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Hayden) Hayward, of Braintree. Mr. French still survives her husband, also, a son, Hon. Asa French, our present District Attorney.

Mr. French during his lifetime filled some very important and all of them highly responsible positions. He was Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue during the war of the Rebellion. He was a director, when he died, of the Weymouth National Bank, and also in that of the Braintree and Weymouth Savings Bank Corporation. He has been a selectman of the town and an Overseer of the Poor; and was at the time of his death, and had been for 20 years, Town Treasurer. He also followed the calling of an auctioneer for many years, and was a general dealer in real estate in Weymouth and Hingham valued at perhaps $7,000, was to be the portion of the son's Minot French, Jr., legacy. I suggested that the son should have the same amount as the daughter, and Mr. Tirrell made him the bequest of the son's Minot French, Jr., legacy. I suggested that the son should have the same amount as the daughter, and Mr. Tirrell made him the bequest of the son's Minot French, Jr., legacy. I suggested that the son should have the same amount as the daughter, and Mr. Tirrell made him the bequest of the son's Minot French, Jr., legacy.

Mr. French was not known because of any peculiarity or singularity of manner, but rather because of the absence of such. He was blessed with a sound, physical constitution, and his mind was of a like healthy and genial cast. His habit was to look on the bright side of things, and the philosophy of living he practically reduced to the axiom, "what can be helped, help it; and what cannot, do not mourn over it." If such men as Mr. French do not dazzle and astonish the world, they at least constitute the backbone of society, and are necessary to its very existence. In this respect, Mr. French was neither indifferent nor demonstrative. He always acted, however, with the part of "liberty and progress."

He was a member of the First Congregational Church, and had taken a leading part in the management of its affairs for about 35 years. He was a great admirer of the late Dr. Storrs, so long the able and accomplished pastor of that church.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of the deceased and was largely attended. The directors of the National and Savings Banks of Weymouth attended in a body; so also did the Board of Selectmen. The services were conducted by Rev. Thomas A. Emerson, pastor of the First Congregational Church, assisted by Prof. J. H. Sewall and Rev. Asa Mann. The remains were deposited in the family tomb in the cemetery of the First Parish.

Rev. Father Kelley.

Our esteemed citizen, Rev. Mr. Kelley, has just passed his eightieth birthday, and few are able to accomplish so much at an advanced age as he is. He labored many years in circuit preaching rarely working long in one place, varying his leisure, by all kinds of missionary work, and ministering in thousands of by-paths and places. His retentive memory is stored with recollections of peculiar and funny incidents, and the sphere of his labors has extended from prisons to the privacy of homes, where he has gratuitously encouraged the unfortunate and sick, comforted the dying, performed the baptismal service, sanctified the marriage rite, and spoken the last words over the dead. Since his seventieth year, he has worked among the poor of our town, as President of the Charitable Society; he has been one of the foremost of Faxon's disciples, he has been chaplain of the Soldiers' Home, has officiated for the Post G. A. R., has performed mystic ceremonies at the "Lodge," and at that other mysterious something called the Chapter. His brothers at the last masonic gathering presented him with a beautiful clock to remind him to be more careful of his own strength, that he might have many, many more years.

Dr. Faxon presented it in a few felicitous words. The little picturesque church nestled among the hills of West Quincy, stands as one testimonial of his energy. Long live the venerable man who is cheered for every heart and from every home where his steps have carried him.

Messrs. Macular, Parker & Company, the clothiers, completed their thirtieth year as a business firm last Wednesday. The Transcript, and other dailies, have printed interesting reviews of the changes, by removals and otherwise, that have marked the career of this Boston house. The old concern has made a good record in all these years since 1852. It fills a certain place in the clothing-trade in a way that inspires confidence in its productions and in its statements. It makes a certain grade of goods, and it has no other kind to sell at any price. In this way people know just what they are buying, and customers who are not judges of cloth and workmanship, may be sure to rely upon besides their own discernment.

The oldest ex-Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives is Robert C. Winthrop, who held that office forty-four years ago. Josiah Quincy was president of the Senate forty years ago, and Marshal P. Wilder thirty-two years ago.

Sunday Services.

Death of Jonathan French.

On Saturday morning last Jonathan French died at his residence in South Braintree. Mr. French was the son of Asa and Mable (Hollis) French, and was a lineal descendant of John French, who is said to have been the first settler in what is now known as the town of Braintree. Mr. French was

CORRECT FORM OF BALLOT.

"Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town? No." The undersigned have been requested to serve as a Committee on Temperance in Quincy, having for our special object and purpose, the using of all legitimate means to influence voters to cast a "No" vote as to the licensing of the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town.

A series of meetings will be held in the different sections of the town, to be addressed by prominent citizens of the state, and of the town. The attention of the public will also be called to various papers and documents, issued in the interest of law and order and of good morals in the community, so far as the suppression of the liquor traffic will contribute to these desirable ends.

All good citizens are invited to co-operate in this work as they may find opportunity.

Fires in Quincy, 1881.

The loss in Quincy by fires for the past year, was very small, as will be seen by the following list, which has been handed to us by Joseph M. Glover, Esq., clerk of the Quincy Fire Department. Mr. Glover is very careful and our citizens can rely on the following figures:—

March 5.—Bake-house on Hancock street, owned by Henry H. Faxon. The fire was accidental, no public alarm being given, and the loss was but $20, which was covered by insurance.

March 16.—Dwelling house off South street, owned by the heirs of Thomas J. Nightingale. Loss $100; insured for $400. Incendary.

April 24.—Fire in the woods at Quincy Neck. Loss trifling. The wood was owned by Daniel Baxter and others.

July 4.—Stable on Hancock street, owned by A. W. Russell. Loss $12; covered by insurance. Cause, accidental.

July 13.—Shop on Hancock street, owned by William Panton. Loss $6. Cause, incendiary.

Aug. 11.—Dwelling house and shed off Willard street, owned by John Callahan. Loss $200; insured for $400. Cause, accidental.

Sept. 1.—Barn on Common street, owned by Bartholomew Reardon. Loss $1,000; insured for $1,500. Incendary.

Oct. 22.—Haystack at Atlantic, belonging to William Mahoney. Loss $10. Cause, incendiary.

Dec. 13.—Shed on Hancock street, owned by J. P. Quincy. Loss trifling. Incendary.

Reception and Ball.

Another of those splendid parties for which the original W. M. French Hose Company have been noted, will be given at the Town Hall, Quincy, on Friday evening, March 3d. The committee have made arrangements to have this ball surpass any held in former years. The hall will be elaborately decorated by the Hose company, and a beautiful feature of the occasion will be a fine display of plants and flowers, interspersed with fountains of perfume, which will be under the care of Mr. A. G. Durgin. Excellent music will be furnished by the 25th Brigade Band of Boston, which needs no recommendation from us. A concert will be given by this orchestra previous to the dancing. Seats will be arranged in and under the gallery for spectators. There will be no intermission in dancing during the evening, and supper will be served in the lower hall between 10 and 2 o'clock, by a caterer from the city. Jesse F. Curtis has charge of the floor, with a sufficient and able corps of aids, which is a satisfactory guarantee that everything will be well looked after.

NORFOLK CONFERENCE. A delegation consisting of the pastor and twenty members from the First Congregational Church attended the Norfolk Conference at Roxbury on Wednesday. There were appropriate remarks on the death of Dr. Bellows. The sermon by Rev. Mr. Slicer of Providence was a rare intellectual feast defending our Christian faith. The report of the missionary work done by the association showed an increasing zeal. An hour was passed in the chapel enjoying a fine collation, and the afternoon was passed pleasantly in the church with the concluding exercises. A mild Spring-like day added to the occasion.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION. The Boston Advertiser says:—"The Boston Merchants' Association will have its monthly dinner on the 25th instant, when the Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., will be the principal speaker for the subject of 'A National Road of Railroad Commissioners.' Mr. Adams' address, in view of the looming importance of the railroad problem, will be of great public significance and will be sure to attract considerable attention all over the country, for there is no higher authority, and it is understood he has especially prepared his address for the occasion and the times."

EXPENSES. It is estimated that the cost to the city of Boston of removing snow during the last two winter seasons will be about $50,000. For several years 1200 men and 125 teams have been employed daily.

PASSED THE SENATE. The Proviso Bill, although strongly opposed as unconstitutional, passed the Senate at Washington on Thursday. The several amendments to the bill were voted down.

Brief Locals.

Spring is coming. Charles has doused his straw hat.

Rev. Mr. Kelley will officiate at the almshouse tomorrow afternoon, about 3 o'clock.

Millard F. Newcomb left a few days ago, on a voyage to California, around Cape Horn.

Don't skip a good thing. You will, if you are not found in the Town Hall, Wednesday evening.

The Universalist Church at Palmer, Mass., has voted to call Rev. E. A. Perry of Quincy, to its pastorate.

Lists of qualified voters in Quincy have been printed this week at the PATRIOT OFFICE, and are now ready for posting.

A very interesting account of the Quincy School system from the Hingham Journal will be found on the first page.

A sacred concert will be given at the Town Hall, on Sunday evening, by the Pauline E. Hopkins colored troubadours.

The next dance under the name of the Hook and Ladder Co. takes place on Wednesday evening next, Washington's Birthday.

An interesting letter from a Quincy boy, who is sight seeing in New York, can be found on the third page of this paper.

Hancock Lodge of Good Templars is doing a good work. Ten new candidates were initiated on Tuesday evening and more are coming.

The net proceeds of the Universalist Service were over $150. A pleasant time was enjoyed on Wednesday evening, at Faxon Hall, in settling the accounts.

Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., will hold a social at their headquarters, next Thursday evening. Comrades and their lady friends are especially invited to attend.

Prof. Charles Thurber, of Quincy Point, caught on Monday last week, between forty and fifty pounds of the handsomest smelts that have been taken from the river for many years.

The slight and unnecessary alarm of fire on Monday evening was occasioned by the tripping of a gas jet.

Brace up! and remember two things next week.—That Wednesday is a century and a half, since Washington's birth; and that on that evening the grand concert, in Town Hall, comes off.

Our valuable correspondent E. P. T. has a welcome space for his New York notes, on the third page. He is contemplating a visit to Spain, and our readers may rest assured, that if possible, they will learn something of interest from that far off land, through him.

One of the largest classes of Masters and Misses that ever assembled in Quincy, gathered at Faxon Hall last Saturday afternoon, to welcome the popular teacher of dancing and deportment, Mr. Russ H. Walker. He receives beginners the 18th at 3 P. M., and again Feb. 25th, but not after that date. Nearly half of the pupils are children of his old scholars.

The following item is from the Boston Herald of Thursday. We are requested to say that it is incorrect, as the mother of the boy who had been charged with the physical vengeance "physical vengeance," but felt very indignant at the treatment of her son and herself.

There was excitement at the Adams school at Quincy yesterday, when the mother of a pupil who had been charged, entered the building and attempted to wreak physical vengeance on the school principal.

The huge piles of snow that covered the ground one week ago, have rapidly melted the present week. On Tuesday last our streets were nearly impassable to foot travelers, and a boat night had been made by the use of one of our citizens, about half past eleven o'clock. After breaking the ash the fellow crawled through the opening, where he was found a few minutes later by Officer Farnall and others.

There were two other persons in the lockup at the time—a man and his wife,—the former in a cell, the latter in the reception room. When the night intruder entered the lady went into a cell and closed the door after her, which has a spring lock, which can only be opened by a key.

TEMPERANCE. A good audience assembled at Faxon Hall, on Sunday evening to listen to remarks upon this all important subject; but, unfortunately, the President of the Quincy Reform Club, Mr. John D. Nutting, was obliged to announce that the speakers which were expected from abroad had not arrived, and he would be obliged to call upon townsmen, who were present to entertain the meeting. The following gentlemen were invited, who made short and interesting remarks, which were interspersed with singing.—Rev. Samuel Kelley, Rev. E. A. Perry, Frederick Souther, and Henry H. Faxon.

Rev. Louis E. Chapiro of the Faneuil Hall Reform Club, Boston, and others will address the meeting at Faxon Hall on Sunday evening next.

HARNESS STOLEN. Last Tuesday night, burglars entered the barn of Sheriff Wood and stole a gold-mounted harness valued at $125. An entrance was made through a window. In gaining an entrance the thief cut his head badly, saturating the window with blood.

MILTON. Mr. John A. Jordan, the popular conductor on the Granite branch of the Old Colony railroad, was recently prevented a gentleman from being run over by the cars, has been presented with quite a large sum of money by the gentleman.

Punched two and three cent pieces are not now redeemable at any price.

Rev. Mr. Norton preached very acceptably in the Christian Union Church, Sunday morning and evening. The singing by the choir was excellent, especially the opening piece.

Rev. G. H. Hastings and the choir at the C. U. Church, conducted the services at the Almshouse, Sunday. The Vulture Engine company had a clam chowder at the engine house, Monday night.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society met Wednesday evening, at the residence of Mrs. T. H. Newcomb.

Miss Kate Starbuck went to New York, Monday evening, to visit friends.

The Quincy Point Temperance Association held its regular meeting Wednesday evening. Remarks were made by Messrs. D. H. Bills, Rev. G. B. Lawton and Walton Hall. There will be another meeting, next Wednesday evening.

Rev. George B. Lawton will preach in the Baptist Chapel, to-morrow.

The pond of water at the side of the C. U. Church, proved a source of great inconvenience last Sunday.

Thursday evening, Mr. James H. Slade delivered a lecture in the Christian Union Church, upon "Salt Lake City and its People." The largest audience of the course greeted the gentleman, and listened to a well prepared discourse upon a subject which had few attractive features. The description of the city and its surroundings was very interesting, and the remarks upon the cause and the belief of the Mormon people in the doctrine of polygamy, showed that the lecturer had made quite a study of the matter.

We hear that rum has caused some trouble, which is to be investigated.

Neponset.

Some large smelts were caught through the ice on the river near Granite Bridge on Monday. The ice on the river broke up Tuesday and spoiled the fishermen's sport.

Trinity Church Society, Congregational, held a fair and tea party in Wood's Hall, Thursday, it was well attended.

Church fair, tea party, sewing society meetings and concerts, seem to be in order this week, in this part of Dorchester.

The concert given by the Haddon Quartette, Monday evening, proved a success in every way and notwithstanding the storm the hall was well filled. The quartette never sang better and Mr. Carter, as usual, sang very finely. Miss Sherman played the violin very nicely. Miss Hayward has improved very much, under her teacher Mrs. Little of Boston, and received an encore to her song, to which she responded in a duet with Mr. Paine, which was the gem of the evening. Mrs. Neale played with her usual good taste. Mr. Henry the cornetist and Mr. Ryder did well, and Mr. Paine sang his solo admirably.

The Sparrow Nuisance.

The rapid increase of this disagreeable pest, known as the English Sparrow, is deserving of attention from every fruit grower, grain raiser and friend of our domestic American songsters. The English sparrow was imported only a few years ago by one of Boston's mayors, with a view of protecting the city trees against the ravages of the canker worm. We have yet to learn the first instance where they have done this. They are not insect eaters, but grain eaters, and at all seasons may be seen roosting on the products of horse-droppings, and they are skillful disseminators. Being preeminently domestic and extremely pugnacious, they are fast driving away that favorite songster, the blue bird, and also the house martin, two of our most voracious consumers of insects; and already the sweet morning call of those latter are supplanted by the harsh chirp of this growing nuisance.

We, last season, watched their operations with the greatest interest, and they showed special fondness for the core of the swelling blossom buds of the pear and peach. While the state law allows the shooting of crows and jays, it protects the English sparrow. Now it is estimated that every crow will eat a pound of worms or insects each week during the breeding season. The blue bird and martin also destroy immense numbers of breeding millers which produce the eggs of myriads of worms.

Which will be a great pest for my people. I propose to scare the pests from our premises by a free use of powder, the smell of which they so dislike, and so again invite the music and service of the blue bird and martin.

Annual Reunion.

The members of the Massachusetts Press Association, with their wives and invited guests, enjoyed their annual reunion and dinner on Wednesday at the Revere House, Boston. After a short time spent in pleasant congratulations, a business meeting was held in one of the parlors, and the following officers were elected:

President, Francis Proctor, Cape Ann Advertiser, Vice President, Luther L. Holden of Boston, William H. Cook of the Milford Journal, Justin Jones of Boston, William J. Rolfe of the Greenfield Gazette and Courier; Recording Secretary, James C. Rose of the Cambridge Press; Corresponding Secretary, G. M. Whitaker of the Southbridge Advertiser; Auditor, Zena E. Stone of the Lowell Mail; Historiographer, Joseph E. Shipley of the Springfield Union. Mr. Alphonse Rose of the Boston Advertiser read prepared biographies of three deceased members. Messrs. Henry Chickering of Pittsfield, Stephen N. Stockwell of Boston, and Charles F. Crocker of Lawrence, and these were placed on record, after which the business closed.

The gentlemen again assembled in the parlors, and an hour was very pleasantly enjoyed, when dinner was announced, and some one hundred and fifty ladies and gentlemen sat down to an excellent and most enjoyable repast. The evening was happily enjoyed and the ladies found on the bill of fare, a few hours were spent in speech making. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Rev. Mr. Horton and Col. Higginson were among the invited guests. They made some very pleasing addresses, as also did several gentlemen connected with the press from other states, and members of the Association. By invitation of Messrs. Tompkins and Hill, managers of the Boston Theatre, the company attended that place of amusement.

Among the property exempt from taxation in New York, is that of the church, amounting to $55,000,000; the college and library, $24,000,000; and the property of the United States, worth $15,000,000.

The monument to President Garfield, toward which Ohio has contributed an excellent one, cost $100,000, and the additional sum of $150,000 has been divided proportionately among the States.

A nickel coalhod filled with flowers was one of the gifts at a wedding in New York the other day.

West Quincy Items.

Mrs. Wheeler, the old lady who was stricken with paralysis last week, was buried from the M. E. Church on Monday afternoon.

The fair of the Ladies' Aid Society opened on Tuesday evening with favorable results; the church vestry being well filled. The ladies have done nobly and great credit is due them in arranging for this fair. The Band holding their fair at the same time, naturally kept some away, which would have attended, but both have been well patronized and we trust will come out financially ahead of their expectations.

The entertainment on Tuesday, consisted of reading by Miss Mattie Atkinson of Boston, and a few selections of song from our musical home talent. Miss Atkinson's readings were beautiful; although somewhat hoarse she held the close attention of the entire audience, which was loud in its applause, calling her back at the end of each piece. On Wednesday evening, Miss Westlake sang two solos, which were fairly done. The tableaux deserved the highest praise, as they were presented to perfection. One other feature deserves mentioning, that is the good suppers which were enjoyed each evening. The ladies must have intended that no one should leave the tables hungry, but their fears were aroused at times, as some of the male brethren sat down, that the ladies would give out, but there was no such thing.

The ladies of the society have expressed themselves well satisfied and greatly obliged for the liberal patronage bestowed.

We noticed upon Wednesday evening, a beautiful crayon portrait of Mrs. Dewing, the late president of the society, hung upon the wall, entwined with choice flowers. She is still dear to our memory, as now her presence is missed and we feel her loss deeply, but what is our loss in her gain, as she was the heaven singing those songs that she loved to sing so dearly here upon earth.

Mr. Herbert Dobie has been quite sick for the past week, and is still confined to his bed, but improving.

Mr. F. J. Fuller is in the far West.

We hear quite often from our townsmen. Mr. George W. Trask and Joshua H. Nutting, who are in Joliet, Ill.

Mr. Richard Walsh lost his overcoat at the Band fair on Thursday evening. Probably some one took it by mistake; if so, the person will do a favor by returning the same to him, or to the committee of the fair.

Weymouth.

At the last regular meeting of the Weymouth Historical Society a paper was read, giving an account of the Weymouth schools, and the school masters of the old time, including a brief sketch of the old Fourth District. The school house was situated on Front street, opposite the Episcopal Church on a small lot of land given by the Rev. Mr. Eben Hunt, as long as they used the same for school purposes.

About 1833, the house being too small to accommodate all the scholars, it was sold to Mr. Hervey White and moved to a lot of land in the rear of S. L. White, Esq.'s office, in Braintree, remodelled and finished into a double dwelling house, and occupied by Caleb Hunt for many years, at the present time it is occupied by Mr. Phillip Curtis and Michael Davis, brick makers, and was successful for a number of years. Soon after he became discouraged, from want of employment and went to the southern states, and was taken sick. His mother and friends on learning of his whereabouts and trouble had him brought to Scituate, his native place, where he soon died. The new school-house now building on Broad street will be finished early this spring, and then by a vote of the town, the Perkins School House and land will be sold. It is a question in the minds of many, whether the town can get that portion of the land that was given the District as long as it was used for school purposes.

The entertainment and sale at Lincoln Hall, by the young ladies of the Episcopal Church, on Wednesday evening, was in every way a success. Programme, part first, piano solo by Mr. Lewis E. Tilden, followed by singing and reading, after which a comedy by Thomas Morton, Esq., was enacted. During the intermission and after the opera, ice cream, flowers, plain and fancy cake, were served.

On Sunday, Feb. 19, Mrs. S. Dick of Boston, the popular lecturer, poet and test medium, will occupy the platform at Williams Hall.

The remains of Mr. W. Penniman, who died of age, at his residence on Summer street, Feb. 10, were taken to Brookline for interment, in the family lot on Monday.

The concert and ball at Clapp's Hall, on Friday evening under the auspices of the Michael Day Branch of the Land League, was fully attended. At 12 o'clock a beautiful collation was served in the upper hall, at 25 cents per plate. After paying all bills about $100 was realized.

Samuel H. Cushing discontinued Mr. Samuel Holbrook conveys workmen to and from East Weymouth.

Number of births in Weymouth for the year 1881, was 234; deaths, 203; marriages, 106.

The Legislative Programme. About Building a New Navy. A Plan to Dispose of Private Bills.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14th, 1882. Congress has sufficiently outlined its programme to enable those well acquainted with the history and precedents of political legislation, to form an opinion as to the results of the country to predict what it will do, and what it will leave undone. It will pass the appropriation bills, of course. The machinery of government must be lubricated. The tariff question is to be considered for the present by referring it to a committee, outside of Congress, for investigation. It is believed that something will be done to increase the strength and efficiency of our navy, and the opinion among naval experts is that our service and our necessities will not be best supplied by monster iron-clads, like those which have been built by England, Germany, and Italy in the last fifteen years, but by a number of powerful, though smaller, swift sailing, and easily manoeuvred, vessels that will be able to undertake a wide range of service, and to escape from the more formidable but unwieldy ships with which the navies of the old world have been recruited. It is the opinion of well informed naval officers here, that since our national policy is defensive and not aggressive, we may with comparative safety rely on torpedoes for the defense of our ports, and that, with twenty-five or thirty vessels of a high degree of speed, each armed with one long range steel gun, we will be so formidable as to make the navy of the great naval powers of Europe that they will think twice before they attack us. Its plan that the naval policies of the European powers should not be followed without modification by us, is a commendable one. Iron-clads are very formidable to the coast cities of Europe, and they would be very dangerous to our coast cities if they were on this side of the Atlantic; but the problem is to bring them here. By far the most comfortable place for unwieldy iron-clads, coal-burners, and steamships, is the placid surface of a land locked harbor. I have seen even the officers and sailors of a first class ocean steamer kick from the incessant heaving of the waves, and by the time they were in ill ventilated metallic "black holes" could reach these shores, the crew would be fitter to take a hospital than a city.

Dunnell, of Maine, has introduced a bill in Congress similar to a measure recently urged by Mr. Springer, of Illinois, and by the late Clarkson N. Potter, of New York. Its object is to Congress of the incubus of petty personal legislation and to have claims against the government adjudicated by a court of experts, constituted by the purpose. Mr. Springer, in a recent speech showed that personal legislation was prohibited by the constitutions of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and most of the other great states, and that this prohibition had reduced the volume of their statutes nearly 90 per cent. It is absurd to expect the legislature of 50,000,000 of people, confronted with momentous questions of domestic and foreign policy, to act as a court for the settlement of private claims against the government. Over 400 bills, most of them of a personal and private character, have already been introduced during this session of Congress, and the necessity of such a measure as that proposed by Mr. Dunnell is urgently felt.

ADAMS.
For the Patriot.
"The Quincy System."

Strangers are daily visiting Quincy to look into the new school system, and it will be well perhaps to call their attention to our system for making and keeping in order sidewalks. More particularly do we wish to call attention to the patent combined sidewalk and duck pond, to be seen in front of the residence of Mr. John W. Hall and the late Dr. Underwood, built on the concave principle. It makes the christianized portion of the community swear internally, and the unchristianized swear externally, when obliged to walk over it, and it is hoped, in interests of good morals, whose duty it is will attend to an improvement in that neighborhood.

DECEASED. Mrs. Mary W., wife of Governor Long, died on Thursday, after a lingering illness. She was born in Roxbury in 1845; her maiden name was Glover. She was a graduate of Derby Academy, Hingham, and while residing became acquainted with Governor Long, and was married in that town in 1870. About five years ago she was first affected with nervous prostration, and since that time she has gradually declined, becoming more and more enfeebled. Mrs. Long was a lady of remarkable culture, possessed of an amiable disposition, and was beloved by every one who knew her. She was the mother of three children, two of whom, Catherine and Margaret, survive to mourn her loss.

At Edinburgh Mr. Moody invited the children to bring him on a certain day such of those toys as they were willing to give to poor children. The result was enough to fill two large wagons.

We call attention to the card of Hatch & Foote, well-known bankers of New York, in another column.

Universalism and Orthodoxy.

The Rev. James E. Smith of Abington preached his farewell sermon at the First Congregational Church in that place on Sunday evening last. The Boston Daily Globe of Monday says:—

"Rev. James E. Smith, the clergyman who vaulted the chasm between Universalism and Orthodoxy a short time ago, and who goes to Montana to-morrow to disseminate the Orthodox doctrines under the Home Missionary Society of New York, was allowed to take advantage of the occasion to abrogate himself from all the evils into which he has entangled himself while in town and shake his garments free from the contaminating influences which have surrounded him. He was greeted with a good sized audience. He took his text from Paul, xx., 22, and upon this basis showed the errors which surround the Universalist faith and the erroneous doctrines which its teachers promulgate. He took the Greek word meaning eternal, everlasting, which occurs in Corinthians, and from which he maintained the Universalists by a double superlative added their theory of eternal bliss and happiness to show the error of that doctrine and the diametrically opposite meaning of the word, which a careful study of it discloses. Upon this word alone, Mr. Smith said, rested the one great tenet of the Universalist creed, and by its meaning no such doctrine could be maintained. He pointed out another radical error in the teachings of this doctrine on the parable of Dives and Lazarus, which the Universalist commentators maintain was an old story when Christ repeated it. Mr. Smith showed that the story was for the first time published 400 years after Christ by Babylonian commentators on the Ghemora. He took advantage of the occasion to extricate himself from the charges of the mismanagement of the schools and said that what had been said concerning him was untrue, unjust and false. In this connection he used some very abusive language against a Whittier teacher here. He attacked church fairs and dancing, being particularly severe on the people of his old parish in this respect. He deprecated the work which the entire Universalist church was doing and declared that he saw their societies run down everywhere. He referred to the trial which the change had cost him and in closing solicited the prayers of all in his new work."

GENEALOGY. A New Bedford lady lost a diamond ring recently, while on her way home from Boston, in the cars. She informed the conductor of her loss, and he instructed the person who kept the car to watch carefully for the article. The ring was not found, and the conductor offered to make a careful search. He accordingly lifted the cushions and after a most thorough examination found the missing diamond. Upon returning it to the lady she took out a well-filled pocket-book, and selecting a ten cent piece and a five cent nickel, offered it to the finder. The conductor informed her that he was paid by the railroad company for his services, and the money was returned to the pocket-book.

PLATE FOR GARFIELD'S CAREER.—An ancient bronze plate has been placed on the bronze car containing the remains of the late President. The plate is of heavy, solid design, and possesses such intricacies of carving that over three months were consumed in its completion. It is six feet high, and bears the inscription: "God knows I would not, 'Garfield, 1881.' The carving, to an unpracticed eye, presents simply a bas-relief of leaves and acorns, and at each end an open lily, but each stem, twig and leaf is emblematic of the life and character of the great dead.

BICYCLE RIDING. Minnie Madden and Grace Cray, Illinois girls of 18 and 19 years, are making a tour of the West on bicycles. They started early in the fall, and when cold weather set in at the North they had reached Texas. They are not doing it for show purposes, but for health and diversion. A man servant attends them, and they carry a small quantity of baggage, their trunks being sent ahead by express. They intend to cross the country to Florida by spring, and then move up along the coast.

OUT OF WORK. Five hundred cotton-stemmers were discharged from the new capital at Albany on Saturday last, the appropriation of last year having been exhausted. The men held a meeting Monday and asked the Legislature to make an appropriation of $100,000 to continue the work until the usual annual appropriation is made.

There is a young man travelling around in eastern Texas vaccinating the negroes with bee-wax. He charges a dollar, represents himself as being appointed by the United States government, and threatens that dire penalties await those who refuse to be operated on.

Miss Ida Terry, of Chicopee Falls, has a head of hair of extraordinary abundance and length. When loose it trails for half a yard along the floor, though she is of fully average height. It has become a burden, however, and will be shortened.

Many of those people who officiously sent articles to the White House for the benefit of the dying President, and which were supposed to be voluntary offerings, have charged exorbitant prices for them. Their names should be published.

At Lady Stradbroke's ball, lately, the room was decorated by an avenue of palm trees which met at the top. The effect in brilliant light was very fine.

Letter from New York.

New York City, Feb. 13, 1882.

To my mind the Battery is the most interesting place to visit in this city, and in summer time it is one of the most popular resorts. The river scene, old Castle William on Governor's Island, and the various islands around it, Bedloe's Island at a distance, the great ocean steamships passing in and out, together with every description of sailing vessels, present a sight long to be remembered.

The ambulance system in connection with the hospitals is probably the best in the country, if not in the world. In the case of accident, whether at a fire or otherwise, sudden illness, etc., they are summoned by the fire alarm telegraph or by telephone, and answer the call with an alacrity that is astonishing to the stranger. Two ambulances are connected with each hospital, and driver and attending physician are in constant readiness for a call. The sufferer is attended to on the spot, and then taken to the nearest hospital. The going of the ambulance wagon clears a way through the crowded streets, and there is no delay in reaching the comforts of the hospitals.

One of the first things that attracts the attention of the visitor in this city, is the immensity of its new buildings, ten and eleven stories high—generally considered fire-proof, but not always proving so—with tasteful stone trimmings, which gives them a pleasing and solid appearance. The Tribune addition, eleven stories, running from Spruce to Frankfort streets, attracts much attention; also the new Kelley bank building on Beekman street; and the immense structure put up by D. O. Mills, corner of Broad street and Exchange place, the contract for the erection of which was $2,000,000.

Some little excitement was recently caused by a report that this building was momentarily expected to fall. Hundreds gathered to see the wreck, and there was considerable murmuring when the Superintendent of Buildings declared it to be substantial and safe. Private residences of a most costly description are going up in different parts of the city, the most expensive of which is probably that of William H. Vanderbilt. During the year just closed 2,500 houses have been erected at a cost of $43,000,000.

The four elevated railroads, now under one management, and running through the principal avenues, north and south, are certainly a great convenience to the people. The fare is five cents from 5:30 A. M. to 8:30 P. M., and 4:30 P. M. to 7:30 P. M., and ten cents the rest of the day. Manhattan Island being long and narrow, the city can only expand north. Hence the expedient means of traveling than is afforded by the street railroads. In this connection the Battery to High Bridge is about ten miles, and the round trip is made in one and a half hours.

I attended Beecher's church not long since. He draws an immense crowd every Sunday. Recently in one of his addresses he made some serious charges against the Brooklyn Board of Education, to the effect that in some cases the members of the Board had made the surrender of a lady teacher's honor the prize of her position. This of course raised a storm of indignation, and he has since taken it all back, but the Board, and the community generally, are not satisfied.

From the aristocratic Plymouth church to the lowly Bowery Mission is but a span. I stepped into one of the latter a few evenings since. A motley crowd of some 150 persons was present, and during the time I remained about thirty minutes, several converts addressed the assemblage, one of whom, a man sixty years of age said he had been a thief forty-five years, thirty-five of which he had passed in prison; another had served ten years in fact nearly all his life in the State Prison, Florida, with a spinal column twenty-seven feet long. Its head was nine feet and its fore legs seven feet long.

A skeleton of a mastodon was recently found in Taylor County, Florida, with a spinal column twenty-seven feet long. Its head was nine feet and its fore legs seven feet long.

Elm Place Church edifice, Brooklyn, has been shot at by a theatre, and Hyatt Smith's former sanctuary is about to be turned into a play house. There are, however, 200 editions left where churches and missions meet. If these were filled the "city of churches" would be a better place. Its area is 255 square miles, 325 of its 440 streets are paved; 18,000 vessels with two and a half millions tonnage passed under its bridges in 1880. Its population is 600,000.

At Mrs. Commodore Garrison's luncheon party to a hundred and two ladies in New York, the other day, the flowers were presented in slippers of straw and the gifts were lovely fans and elegant bomboniers.

you here. It is all right, however, for I am chief—By Injun—in this place, and will take care that you are well provided for and have the best quarters in my jurisdiction, for you gave me a respectable funeral and provided for the widow and orphans after I was called away,—he seated." I did as requested, talked over the past, and commenced to arrange matters for the future, when a loud knock at the door opposite, and the stentorian voice of the hotel porter, crying out, "Five o'clock, turn out, train leaves at six," awoke me before the big Injun consigned me to the "best quarters in his jurisdiction."

New York Notes.

Feb. 14th, 1882.

A warm wave came with St. Valentine's, as if in sympathy with the ardent affections with which to-day thousands of loving missives are burdened. I noticed just now on the avenue, the postman's swollen leather bag. He was loaded like some Santa Claus. May his letters bring joy.

It is very pleasant to have dry streets again, and to set with open windows, the mercury at 68 degrees outside. But the cold waves are saying, "More snow, soon."

A few days ago I enjoyed a stroll through our noble Lenox Library and Metropolitan Museum of Art, in company with a gentleman of wealth and leisure, whose familiarity with art gave great value to his suggestions. The visits recalled the weeks we spent together in Russia, Sweden, Denmark and Germany last summer, where we saw originals in painting and sculpture that are copied here. He gave me hints about Spain, where he was last winter, and where I hope to be next June. The public are admitted to the Museum, without charge, excepting Mondays and Tuesdays. Space does not allow detailed description of pictures Nos. 111, 119, 136 and 151 of Hand-book No. 6, held as longest in the Loan Collection. There are 184 of the old masters in the East gallery, to which Hand-book No. 1, is a guide. In the Lenox Gallery, No. 16, "Cotopaxi," by Church, is a superb painting. No. 34 "Fingal's Cave, Staffa," called up sunny memories of a visit to the Hebrides in 1879. No. 137, a "Spanish Cafe," suggested sights soon to be enjoyed, perhaps.

Speaking of art calls to mind the recent visit of Oscar Wilde, and Hyatt Smith's assertion that the caricature which made him "wild" the other day, was gotten up by himself as a shrewd advertisement. The "proof" was on his table the day before it was published. He is charged too with being at the bottom of the Harvard boys' fun. His scheming tricks awaken daguit.

The fearful fire on Park Row has directed attention to fire escapes.—Gen. Meigs shows the great value of an arrow shot from a building, by which a strong cord can be carried 100 feet or more. This will draw up a knotted rope, and prove more serviceable than ladders.

Elm Place Church edifice, Brooklyn, has been shot at by a theatre, and Hyatt Smith's former sanctuary is about to be turned into a play house. There are, however, 200 editions left where churches and missions meet. If these were filled the "city of churches" would be a better place. ## Town Meeting.

The election of town officers occurs one week from Monday next. The annual March warrant will be found in our columns to-day. It contains, as usual, a large number of articles, many of them of great importance to the welfare of the town, and will need careful consideration; others that will be passed quietly by.

The temperance element is taking active steps to induce the citizens to vote against granting licenses in Quincy. Numerous public temperance gatherings have been held, and arrangements have been made to have speaking at different parts of the town, nearly every night between now and the day of election.

An effort will be made to induce the town to purchase a steam fire engine, and locate it at South Quincy, in the old stone school house. There is but little doubt that the time has or will soon come, when Quincy must be better prepared to contend against the devastating flames. Our fire department has worked nobly the past year, but little property has been destroyed; but they cannot always be so fortunate.

The time will come, and how soon, we cannot tell, when the town will be better prepared to contend against the devastating flames. Our fire department has worked nobly the past year, but little property has been destroyed; but they cannot always be so fortunate.

Brief Locals.

A smart, capable Protestant girl is wanted immediately.

A girl is desirous of securing a situation to work in a family.

The snow storm on the 23d, has given us some very level and pretty sleighing.

The town reports are nearly printed, and will be ready for distribution next week.

Miss Mabel Hodges entertained a few of her young friends at her residence, on Thursday evening.

Miss Anna Agler left here Saturday for Philadelphia, where she intends making a short visit.

Mr. William P. Martin, sexton of Christ Church, has been quite seriously sick the present week.

To-morrow forenoon the Rite of Confirmation will be administered at Christ Church, by Bishop Paddock.

A pocket book containing a small sum of money has been found, which the owner can have by applying at this office.

The Democrats hold their caucus on Saturday evening next, and the Republicans on Wednesday evening at the Town Hall.

The Methodist Episcopal Society of West Quincy cleared the hands of some $140 at their recent fair and entertainments.

The services at the almshouse will take place about half past four o'clock to-morrow, and will be conducted by Rev. E. A. Perry.

The annual parish meeting of the Universalist Society for the election of officers, will be held at their church on Thursday evening next.

The Codding School will celebrate with appropriate exercises, Henry W. Longfellow's seventy-fifth birthday, on Monday afternoon, Feb. 27th.

Notices have been issued calling for a meeting of the citizens of Atlantic at their school-house, to consider what action to take at the coming town election.

The Commander and staff of the United States Division, G. A. R., with representatives from other Posts in the county, visited the Brookline Post, on Monday evening.

Mr. Jacob H. Hersey returned home on Tuesday night from a business visit to Europe. His wife went to New York to meet him and had the misfortune to sprain her ankle while in that city.

In justice to our West Quincy correspondent we would say that the item respecting Mrs. Westlake singing two solos, should have read "which were finely done," instead of fairly done.

We learn from our exchanges that Mr. Henry H. Faxon bought at a small expense to the town, the voters will undoubtedly decide to take a step forward in this direction. The grounds have been surveyed by Messrs. Whitman & Breck, our civil engineers, and a very handsome map made, showing the location and advantages of this fine seashore spot for a public park, which the voters will have a chance to examine at the meeting.

The Thomas Crane Public Library building is nearly completed, and it is proposed by the donors to present it to the town. The interior is being finished in a very elegant manner, and will probably cost the donors from ten to fifteen thousand dollars more than at first expected. The town is asked to appoint a committee to receive the same from the generous donors, and appropriate money to defray the expenses incidental to the same.

G. A. R. SOCIABLE. The sociable given by Post 88, G. A. R., complimentary to their friends, was a very successful affair, upwards of one hundred being present. The readings given by Mrs. Burdell and Chaplain Perry were received with great favor. Mrs. Burdell repeated with effect "Keen's Charge at the battle of Chancellorsville," which was relished by the old soldiers. The vocal music by Mrs. Laura Tirrell and Miss Grace Adams was excellent and was highly appreciated. Mr. Geo. A. Laws gave some very fine readings of the harmonica which won for him the recall. Mr. H. C. Mann of West Quincy gave some very pleasing comic songs in the German dialect, which took well. The entertainment opened and closed with selections of songs. The Harmonica was played by Mr. T. Reed, who also officiated as accompanist for the evening. Supper was served after the entertainment, during which remarks were made by Chaplain Perry, Comrade Dodge, Rev. Samuel Kelley and others. The whole affair was pronounced a successful one, and the request of our friends was not to forget them next time.

The arrangements for the grand ball by the original W. M. French Hose Company are progressing finely. The indications are that it will surpass any of the grand times given by this company in former years. The Town Hall will be very beautifully decorated, not only with flags and streamers, but plants and flowers. Let those who enjoy a good time endeavor to be on hand next Friday evening. Remember there are reserved seats for those who purchase tickets early.

RESIGNED. We learn that Rev. E. A. Perry, pastor of the Universalist Society in this town, has sent to the parish committee his resignation. He has received a call from a very flourishing society in Palmer, Mass., at $1000 a year. He has been settled in Quincy nearly four years, and the society has been very successful under his labors, having freed itself of an indebtedness, and is now taking steps to build a vestry and remodel its church edifice.

FINE CONCERT. The concert given at the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Evangelical Congregational Society was quite an enjoyable affair. The singing throughout was exceedingly fine, while Mrs. Knowles entertained the audience in a very pleasing manner. The proceeds from this concert is to go towards building a fence around the church.

ACCIDENT. Sadie M., the eldest child of Mr. George W. Jones, was accidentally scalded on Saturday last by running against a dipper of hot water which her mother was carrying across the room. We are pleased to say that the little girl is not seriously injured and has been quite comfortable during week.

Quincy Point Items.

Sunday evening a Sabbath school concert was given in the Christian Union Church, a large number being present. The exercises comprised readings, declamations, selections from the scriptures and singing.

There was a choir rehearsal at the residence of Miss Lizzie Penney, Monday evening.

Mr. Marcus Wight and a party of friends started Monday for quite an extended pleasure trip.

Mr. Kittredge had a number of men at work at an early hour Wednesday, clearing the sidewalks on Washington street of snow. This thoroughfare has been well attended to this winter and there has been very little inconvenience experienced from the large fall of snow.

Two weeks ago a complaint was made to the Board of Engineers that a run had been brought into the Vulture engine house and drunk and disorderly conduct had been committed by the crew to the orders of the Board. Action was taken upon the matter last Saturday evening and one member was discharged and two suspended. A special meeting of the members was called at the engine house Wednesday evening and a letter was then read which stated the action of the Engineers. A debate (?) then occurred which was so interesting and striking in its results, that Officers Farnall and Langley, from the Centre were sent for to assist the Foreman in deciding the question. Upon their arrival it was decided that certain parties who were trying to make a disturbance, leave the engine house with the alternative of being locked up. The Foreman and Clerk were the recipients of considerable abusive language during the evening. Some of the members thought the matter of the "complaint" should have been brought before the company before it was brought before the engineers. We hope to see the Vulture Engine Company hold a meeting and let itself of whatever is proving a disgrace to it, as quickly as possible; there are enough well disposed men in the company to do it.

The Ladies' Aid Society gave a party at their residence Wednesday evening; the large parlors of the house were well filled by the young people of the Point, who enjoyed themselves splendidly till an hour after midnight in singing, dancing and playing games.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barry and Miss Maggie Thomas entertained a few friends at their residence Wednesday evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society gave one of its pleasant socials at the house of Mrs. George Collier Thursday evening, which was well attended.

We hear that last Wednesday's tide was the highest ever known here, excepting the time when Miss Ledge's light was destroyed.

Capt. E. S. Brown has been appointed steward of the Vulture Engine Co., until a successor to the past one is elected by the members.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society will meet at the residence of Mrs. William Chubbuck, Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. H. B. Shaffner of Newton will preach in the Baptist Chapel to-morrow.

The choir of the Baptist and Christian Union churches met for a joint rehearsal at the residence of Mr. W. T. Barry, Thursday evening; they will sing at the public temperance meeting to be held next week in the latter church.

We hope to see a large attendance of our citizens at the Temperance meeting to be given between now and election day. There will be some excellent speaking, many of the prominent residents of the town having volunteered their services.

Remember the Republican Caucus takes place next Wednesday evening. The voters should make it a point to be present, for that is the time to secure suitable candidates to vote for on election day.

West Quincy Items.

Officers Farnall, Locke and Langley secured a large quantity of liquor at the store of Wilbur P. Rice, at Atlantic, on Thursday last, consisting of whiskey, rum, brandy, gin and wine.

We are sorry to learn that diphtheria is again in our town, three deaths having occurred in one house in the west part of the town, within a few days. All precautions should be taken to keep this dreadful infection from our midst.

Francis Lodge of Quincy, under whom the Holbrook Brass Band received its preliminary instruction, and who was associated as its leader, for two years, has been again secured to take the leadership of this organization. —Nesbitt County Register.

Mr. Bryant N. Adams, proprietor of the Quincy Piano, has raised some of the finest lettuce that we ever saw. Those of our citizens desirous of procuring fresh lettuce, rhubarb, parsley, mint or salsify, can be supplied by Mr. Adams at short notice.

The bold burglar who forced open the door of the ticket office at Wollaston last week, and stole some $100 in cash, has been arrested. The culprit is supposed to be a stranger who was seen about the depot about the hour the money was taken, of whom the officers have a good description, but have not succeeded in finding him.

The man who ploughed out the sidewalks in the centre of the town this week deserves a medal. The sidewalk from the Savings Bank to E. Clapp's store, neither snowed slip, judgment nor good taste. It was more crooked than the streets of Boston, which puzzle strangers so badly. If the work is to be paid for, it should be properly done.

Our town was visited on Tuesday night by one of the highest tides we have known for fifteen or more years. Many cellars were filled with water—Mr. O'Brien, at Atlantic, had two pigs drowned—and considerable damage at different places along our shores was done. At Mr. Bill's coal yard at Quincy Point, the water was three feet deep above the wharf. The causeway to Hough's Neck was badly washed, and some small buildings were unceremoniously moved without the assistance of Mr. Cavanaugh.

LENTEN SERVICES. The Lenten services at Christ Church are as follows:—Sundays, morning service at 10:30; evening service at 7 o'clock. Week-day services will be held in the chapel, Mondays at 5 P. M., Wednesdays at 7 P. M., Fridays at 10 A. M. Holy Week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 5 P. M. Thursday in the church at 7 P. M. Good Friday, in the church at 10:30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Saturday, Easter Even service with baptism, in the church, at 5 o'clock. At the Sunday evening services, the seats in the entire church are open to the public.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY. The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Washington, was celebrated very quietly in this town, by ringing of bells, morning, noon and night. The places of business were closed on Tuesday. It being Ash Wednesday, the first day of the Lenten Season, services were held in the Catholic and Episcopal Churches, both morning and evening.

THE JUBILEE SINGERS. The sacred concert given at the Town Hall on Sunday evening last, by the Pauline E. Hopkins colored troubadours, was anything but sacred. The troupe is composed of excellent talent, and if the except the Sabbath, would place on any evening pronounced extra. But the comic songs and more comic acts called forth loud echoes from a promiscuous audience.

IN HAMPTON, Mass., there is an apple tree which was grafted by Robert Seeley one hundred years ago. He was one of the men who pitched the tea overboard in Boston harbor.

Weymouth.

About eight o'clock Friday evening forty or fifty members of the Episcopal Society assembled at the house of Mr. L. H. Lund, and soon proceeded to the residence of Rev. John A. Jerome, and to his surprise took possession of the premises. Previously the company had prepared a little entertainment to be given at that place, consisting of select reading by Miss Fisk, solo singing by Misses Josie Dowse, Mattie Wood and Susan Allen. Nate Wheeler, feeling a little indignant, stepped to the front and favored the company with a song. After which Miss Louise Lund presented Mr. Jerome with a beautiful basket of flowers, which concealed an envelope containing a goodly sum of money. Mr. Jerome responded in a brief and pleasing manner. The company was then invited by Mr. Adoniram Chase, master of ceremonies, for the evening, to a beautiful collation. The remainder of the evening was then spent in social conversation, and singing by a quartette composed of Misses Allen and Dowse and Messrs. Allen and Hanchard. Mr. Lewis E. Titus acted as pianist. The exercises of the evening closed by the company singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Our townsman, Rev. Anson Titus, Jr., delivered the monthly lecture before the New England Historical Society, at Somerset street, Boston, on Wednesday, at three o'clock, P. M. Subject: "Some of the elements in the development of American character."

The Ladies' Lodge of Old Fellows dedicated their new hall on Thursday afternoon and evening. A large company of ladies and gentlemen, who had been favored with invitations, assembled at four o'clock, and witnessed a pleasant ceremony as laid down in the ritual. After which a beautiful collation was served. In the evening dancing was in order until an early hour the next morning. Mr. J. L. Faxon of Quincy was the architect of the handsome building.

Within forty-eight hours of the delivery of said sermon, a meeting of the church was called, and one week later, at a very large and excited meeting of the members of the church, it was voted that the resignation of Mr. Minn be asked for immediately. His long and busy career, Chicago loses its most eloquent and most liberal preacher; and although it has been proposed by his supporters to hire a theatre for the promulgation of his views, in all probability the State slave, or Cyprian Church never to enter and her as regular pastor.

Your correspondent went to a theatre this morning, (Sunday) and, although there was applause, which is not given to meretricious performers on the stage, there was no theatrical performance. The Rev. Dr. Thomas preached as customary on every Sunday. In the evening, the play of "Mother-in-Law" holds forth with full scenic and mechanical effects, etc.

A Surprise.

The members of St. Francis Court of West Quincy, were surprised at their hall on Monday evening by their lady friends, and presented with a handsome clock and a set of curtains. The clock is the order and number of the court inscribed on them in gilt letters. The following presentation speech was made by Joseph Hart:

Chief Ranger, Officers and Members of St. Francis Court, I have been requested by the lady friends of the Foresters to make a small presentation by their behalf. Presented by their sex from taking an active part in your proceedings, they nevertheless are deeply interested in your progress and anxious for your success as actions show. We have heard it said that "Time is money." If so, what richer testimonial could be made, than this clock which we beg you to accept in the cordial spirit in which it is given. They also have at heart their own interest. Many an hour while you are at your court, (and it is to be hoped that it will be the only kind of court in which you indulge), your wives are at home contentedly engaged in their own face of the family clock the tedious moments which must elapse before your arrival. You no longer will have to depend on Mr. Wodwick's watch, which on meeting nights is always, whether correct or incorrect, about half an hour and one half slow. Looking upon this clock and seeing the hands creeping towards home. Let no selfish thought as "We won't go home till morning" desecrate your manly bosoms, but rather give utterance to the cry of "Come home and see the clock." It's about time to go home."

As an emblem of the awful mystery which surrounds your transactions accept also these curtains, and hereafter let no thoughtless person say that women are curious for it is evident that they are here laboring to defeat that curiosity which some have thought natural to them.

Finally Chief Ranger and gentlemen accept with all, and above all, our sincere wishes for your continued welfare. We hope you all will live to see a great many more pleasant surprises, but always remember with kindly feelings the pleasant evening we passed to-day in the grand surprise party we had at the Forester Hall.

The presentation speech was responded to by C. R. John F. Cole, who, on behalf of the members of the Court, returned their heart-felt thanks to the ladies for their kind remembrance. The hall was then cleared and dancing was in order of the evening until supper was announced, which was done justice to.

It being beautifully supplied with good things prepared by the surprisers. After supper dancing was continued until the wee hours of the morning when the surprisers bade the members good-morning but not before declaring it one of the happiest evenings they had enjoyed for many years. The ladies will bear in mind that this act of kindness will long be remembered by the members of St. Francis Court.

REPORTER.

Two women called on a Maine dentist simultaneously, one to have all her teeth extracted, and the other only three. The dentist mistakenly put the latter under the influence of ether, and rendered her toothless. A jury will try to estimate the damage.

The Church of the Future.

There is always something in Chicago to engage the attention of the public mind. The trial of Dr. Thomas for heresy, the investigation of jury packing and gambling, the new cable railroad, each separately have caused some, if not a great deal, of excitement. But lately a good deal of commotion has been made by the utterances of the Rev. Mr. Minn in Unity Church. The excitement was caused by a sermon, predicting by the signs of the times, what the church of the future would be, and how the future would not have to believe—as a basis of agreement or creed—in hell, in the personality of God, or the immortality of the soul, and the church of the future would receive men, whether they entertained these views or not.

He went on to say that all forms that had grown out of superstition, the old idea of prayer—that by it God is moved to arrest the action of certain laws on the one hand, and to produce wonderful effects on the other—would be discarded. Believing so, he would endeavor to inspire men with admiration for goodness. It was his belief that he had never been so happy as since he had done so, and had simply called on his hearers to hold communion with his best thoughts.

The ideal of the future church would be goodness, its aim, to inspire men with admiration for goodness. It was his belief that he had never been so happy as since he had done so, and had simply called on his hearers to hold communion with his best thoughts.

PRICE 5 CENTS. The Hartford Courant, in dwelling upon the importance of railroad companies using freight couples of a character that will not endanger the lives of those who are compelled to do the coupling, says:—

Each road, that, in this civilized day, continues the brakemen butchery is responsible for it. Nobody denies that the poor fellows are chopped and hacked to pieces awfully every day. Not a quarter of the accidents to them get into print. Indeed, it has been even commented on as remarkable that, whereas in old times brakemen used to work their way up to places of high responsibility, such things now are rare.

The present brakemen are said to be rougher still. There are two reasons why promotions are less likely than they used to be. One is that the brakemen don't live long enough, and the other lies in the "rough stuff" consideration, but the reason they are rougher stuff is that they are brutalized by the treatment they get.

No other branch of industry has expanded so much as freight transportation with such disastrous results to those personally engaged in it. As a rule when any occupation grows in importance the circumstances of those engaged in it improve to correspond. In freight transportation this has been reversed, and the brakemen are worse off in the full growth and activity of business than he was when it was only beginning. It is all wrong, and in the name of human treatment of fellow-men something ought to be done to check the present wholesale butchery.

Josh Billings' Philosophy. I have no objection to a man carrying his hair in the middle, but I shall always insist upon his finishing up the job by wearing a short gown and petticoat. I respect a corpse, but I despise for the space of one minute, and then pity him for another minute, and then forget him for evermore—amen.

Every House has its Cross. A widow lady was almost in despair from the variety of hindrances, vexations and disappointments she had to endure. She was quite overwhelmed with her domestic crosses, and had scarcely the heart to go on with her daily conflicts. "No other roof," she complained, "is so constantly beset with crosses as this of mine. She had no idea that any neighbor of hers was half so crossed as herself, judging as she did, from outward appearances. But it pleased God to teach her a lesson through the instrumentality of a dream, which was the wisest medicine of which she could have partaken.

One night she dreamed that a whole town stood before her, and every house in it bore a cross against its door;—one it was a very large one, on the next it was of less size, and on others, though they were very few, it was but a small one. Among all the crosses, however, she happened to her own, and a considerable and light to carry as that at her own door. She awoke a new creature. What she had seen she had understood; and she remembered Christ's saying, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me." She fell upon her knees at once, and prayed God to pardon her for her complaining, murmuring, repining spirit, and to bestow upon her the grace to be content with her lot, and to release her from it and to give her the cross of her own weakness and content with his orderings. And she employed him with all her strength to grace to endow her with, which from that hour forward she found to be light, as compared with the cross her own weakness had given her to bear. "Yes," she exclaimed, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me," for his "yoke is easy, and his burden is light."

Town Meeting.

The annual March meeting for the election of officers and the transaction of all important town business for the year, occurred on Monday last. But, as has been the custom of late, after electing the officers for the ensuing year, the meeting adjourned for three weeks before acting upon the remaining articles of the warrant.

The day was pleasant and an unusually large number of voters went to the polls. About 1600 ballots were cast; a larger number than at any previous town election. Last year there were 1550 votes thrown. Charles F. Adams, Jr., on Monday last, was on both tickets for Commissioner of the Sinking Fund—Republican and Democratic—and received 1580 votes, the largest number thrown for any one candidate. Last year James E. Maxim received 1465 votes for Constable, the largest number for that office; this year he did not receive enough to be elected. Last year he received both nominations; this year but one, and was defeated; not because he was not just as capable and just as good; but it was simply a freak in politics.

The clerk called the meeting to order at eight o'clock and read the warrant, which contained forty-one articles. John Q. Adams, Esq., who has been for a number of years the popular and excellent presiding officer, was unanimously elected Moderator. After passing a few votes in reference to the adjourned meeting, the polls were opened and remained so until three o'clock. Messrs. E. J. Marsh, Seymour Butler, H. A. Keith, and Herbert M. Fiedler acted as Moderators and Clerk in counting the ballots, and were kept busy about ten hours.

When the result was announced it was a surprise to everybody. Republicans and Democrats, license men and no-license men. The temperance element had united with the Republicans and elected every candidate on the Republican ticket by a large and handsome majority. Although the Republicans have been in a majority in this town, for several years past the Democrats have elected two of the three Selectmen; enough to control the business affairs of the town. This has been accomplished through the efforts and votes of those in favor of intoxicating liquors. But the past year, however, showed our citizens more forcibly than ever the evils arising from the sale of liquors, and by the bold and earnest stand taken by the clergy of the town, and other prominent and influential citizens, a sweeping change has taken place.

A full report of the meeting, which has been furnished to our obliging Town Clerk, will be found on the next page.

ORGANIZED. The new board of Selectmen met at the Selectmen's room on the morning after election and organized by the choice of Geo. Harvey Field, Chairman. Elias A. Perkins, Paymaster. Christopher A. Spear, Clerk.

Capt. Newcomb.

This aged and respected citizen of Quincy, who passed away on Saturday, the 4th inst., was buried from his late residence on Washington street, on Tuesday last. The flags on the block and Ladder Companies, the headquarters of the original W. M. French Hose Company, were displayed at half mast on the day of the funeral, in respect to his memory.

Capt. Newcomb for many years was prominently connected with the fire department, and retained his interest in it up to the time of his death. He was the 2d Chief Engineer of the department, having served in that capacity during 1853. He was one of the founders, and first foreman of the Hook and Ladder Company; for several years foreman of the old Niagara, No. 1; and at the time of his death was an honorary member of the original W. M. French Hose company.

The services were conducted by Rev. E. A. Perry of Quincy, and Rev. E. Hewitt of South Weymouth. He had belonged to many organizations in town, and through his kindness and generosity had won many warm friends. Many neighbors and citizens assembled to pay their last respects to the deceased. His coffin was beautifully decorated with flowers and wreaths, presented by different societies. His remains were interred in the Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

APPOINTMENTS. The following appointments have been made by the Selectmen:—

Messrs. of Wood and Oak.—Richard Newcomb, Harris Barnum, Edward A. Adams, Frederick H. Hedges, Henry E. Fellows, Seth B. Bass, Enoch H. Doble, George B. Pray, S. F. Newcomb, Charles H. Winslow, Frank H. Russell, Warren W. Adams, Joseph M. Glover and Frank Crane.

Weights of Hay, Grain and Coal.—W. W. Ewell, Warren W. Adams, G. W. B. Taylor and A. G. Coffin.

Weights of Coal.—Joseph M. Glover, Frank S. Patch, Charles H. Winslow, Thomas Donlin.

Scaler of Weights and Measures.—George Saville.

Undertaker.—John Hall.

YES OR NO. The question of licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors served to give a special interest to the town meetings on Monday, and in some places the issue was hotly contested. About three towns out of every four that voted on the question, decided by their votes not to grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors, which shows clearly that a majority of the people in this state are opposed to the sale of the deadly compounds, now sold over the counters in the shape of intoxicating liquors.

ACCIDENT. Mr. John A. Holden's son, a boy about twelve years of age, met with an accident in rather a singular manner one day recently. He was in the bath-room and while soaped on the bath tub threw himself forward against the door, the panel of which is glass, and one of his arms was thrust through it and fearfully lacerated with the broken glass.

PERSONAL. Mr. E. A. Hunt called at the PATRIOT office yesterday. He is direct from Santa Rita, New Mexico, having left on the last instant. He informs us that Mexico, Eugene O'Connor and Horace S. Felix, two Quincy boys located in that town, are in good health and have excellent prospects.

Brief Locals.

Rev. Mr. Norton will preach at the almshouse to-morrow afternoon.

The store of Mr. George Saville has been closed several days lately, undergoing repairs.

The Unitarian Society had another of their pleasant soirees at Faxon Hall last evening.

At West Quincy, on Monday night, a lot of hens belonging to Michael A. Donlan, was killed by dogs.

Two of Miss E. E. Williams' recent pupils in book-keeping have obtained excellent positions in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dowson and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rice are enjoying a delightful trip through Florida.

The premises of Michael Devlin on the corner of Union and Walnut streets, was entered on Monday, and a lot of hens was carried away.

The granite yard of William W. Thomas on Granite street, was entered on Monday night last and about $40 worth of stone tools stolen, consisting largely of bush and hand hammers.

Mrs. Henry Edwards, with her two children and mother, Mrs. Jane Pope, leave to-day for California. Their large circle of acquaintances and friends sincerely regret their departure from among us.

G. T. DeFrees would call the attention of the ladies of Quincy to the fact that he has taken the agency for the State Island Dye House, and all goods left at his store will be done in the very best manner.

E. J. Costello informed us yesterday that he should close his place of business on or before the first of May, as it was useless to carry on the liquor business in a town where the people would not grant a license.

The town having chosen Road Commissioners at the election on Monday, it relieves the Selectmen of the care of the roads, which is no small item, and gives them more time to attend to the other wants of the town.

Mrs. L. F. Washburn is intending to break up house-keeping about April 1st. She contemplates banking her future home in Chicago. A pleasant friend and a kind and obliging neighbor, who will be greatly missed.

Mr. H. B. Walker announced, through advertising columns that the last half of his dancing school will commence next Saturday, March 18th. Those interested should take notice and be prepared to commence at that time.

Mr. John C. Frank of Wollaston Heights, has been confined to his bed by a severe attack of brain disease for the past few days, but we are glad to say is recovering rapidly, and will soon be able to greet his numerous friends.

Mr. J. F. Merrill has had one of his store wagons newly varnished, and the new paintings on the sides are very elaborate and handsome enough to be hung in gilt frames on the parlor walls. The wagon has attracted much attention.

The ladies connected with the Universalist Society proposed to hold a social and supper at Faxon Hall on Wednesday evening next. It is hoped that those desirous of enjoying a few hours in a pleasant and social manner will be present.

Rev. William Allen and wife who have been residents of this town for several years are intending to leave for their home next week. Their host of friends in this place feel very sorry to lose sight of the pleasant face of this happy couple.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson goes to Hyde Park, Sunday evening, to deliver one of a series of discourses to be given during 1882. He was one of the founders, and first foreman of the Hook and Ladder Company; for several years foreman of the old Niagara, No. 1; and at the time of his death was an honorary member of the original W. M. French Hose company.

But the past year, however, showed our citizens more forcibly than ever the evils arising from the sale of liquors, and by the bold and earnest stand taken by the clergy of the town, and other prominent and influential citizens, a sweeping change has taken place.

A full report of the meeting, which has been furnished to our obliging Town Clerk, will be found on the next page.

ORGANIZED. The new board of Selectmen met at the Selectmen's room on the morning after election and organized by the choice of Geo. Harvey Field, Chairman. Elias A. Perkins, Paymaster. Christopher A. Spear, Clerk.

Capt. Newcomb.

This aged and respected citizen of Quincy, who passed away on Saturday, the 4th inst., was buried from his late residence on Washington street, on Tuesday last. The flags on the block and Ladder Companies, the headquarters of the original W. M. French Hose Company, were displayed at half mast on the day of the funeral, in respect to his memory.

Capt. Newcomb for many years was prominently connected with the fire department, and retained his interest in it up to the time of his death. He was the 2d Chief Engineer of the department, having served in that capacity during 1853. He was one of the founders, and first foreman of the Hook and Ladder Company; for several years foreman of the old Niagara, No. 1; and at the time of his death was an honorary member of the original W. M. French Hose company.

The services were conducted by Rev. E. A. Perry of Quincy, and Rev. E. Hewitt of South Weymouth. He had belonged to many organizations in town, and through his kindness and generosity had won many warm friends. Many neighbors and citizens assembled to pay their last respects to the deceased. His coffin was beautifully decorated with flowers and wreaths, presented by different societies. His remains were interred in the Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

APPOINTMENTS. The following appointments have been made by the Selectmen:—

Messrs. of Wood and Oak.—Richard Newcomb, Harris Barnum, Edward A. Adams, Frederick H. Hedges, Henry E. Fellows, Seth B. Bass, Enoch H. Doble, George B. Pray, S. F. Newcomb, Charles H. Winslow, Frank H. Russell, Warren W. Adams, Joseph M. Glover and Frank Crane.

Weights of Hay, Grain and Coal.—W. W. Ewell, Warren W. Adams, G. W. B. Taylor and A. G. Coffin.

Weights of Coal.—Joseph M. Glover, Frank S. Patch, Charles H. Winslow, Thomas Donlin.

Scaler of Weights and Measures.—George Saville.

Undertaker.—John Hall.

YES OR NO. The question of licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors served to give a special interest to the town meetings on Monday, and in some places the issue was hotly contested. About three towns out of every four that voted on the question, decided by their votes not to grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors, which shows clearly that a majority of the people in this state are opposed to the sale of the deadly compounds, now sold over the counters in the shape of intoxicating liquors.

ACCIDENT. Mr. John A. Holden's son, a boy about twelve years of age, met with an accident in rather a singular manner one day recently. He was in the bath-room and while soaped on the bath tub threw himself forward against the door, the panel of which is glass, and one of his arms was thrust through it and fearfully lacerated with the broken glass.

PERSONAL. Mr. E. A. Hunt called at the PATRIOT office yesterday. He is direct from Santa Rita, New Mexico, having left on the last instant. He informs us that Mexico, Eugene O'Connor and Horace S. Felix, two Quincy boys located in that town, are in good health and have excellent prospects.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, MAR. 11, 1882.

Town Meeting.

The annual March meeting for the election of officers and the transaction of all important town business for the year, occurred on Monday last. But, as has been the custom of late, after electing the officers for the ensuing year, the meeting adjourned for three weeks before acting upon the remaining articles of the warrant.

The day was pleasant and an unusually large number of voters went to the polls. About 1600 ballots were cast; a larger number than at any previous town election. Last year there were 1550 votes thrown. Charles F. Adams, Jr., on Monday last, was on both tickets for Commissioner of the Sinking Fund—Republican and Democratic—and received 1580 votes, the largest number thrown for any one candidate. Last year James E. Maxim received 1465 votes for Constable, the largest number for that office; this year he did not receive enough to be elected. Last year he received both nominations; this year but one, and was defeated; not because he was not just as capable and just as good; but it was simply a freak in politics.

The clerk called the meeting to order at eight o'clock and read the warrant, which contained forty-one articles. John Q. Adams, Esq., who has been for a number of years the popular and excellent presiding officer, was unanimously elected Moderator. After passing a few votes in reference to the adjourned meeting, the polls were opened and remained so until three o'clock. Messrs. E. J. Marsh, Seymour Butler, H. A. Keith, and Herbert M. Fiedler acted as Moderators and Clerk in counting the ballots, and were kept busy about ten hours.

When the result was announced it was a surprise to everybody. Republicans and Democrats, license men and no-license men. The temperance element had united with the Republicans and elected every candidate on the Republican ticket by a large and handsome majority. Although the Republicans have been in a majority in this town, for several years past the Democrats have elected two of the three Selectmen; enough to control the business affairs of the town. This has been accomplished through the efforts and votes of those in favor of intoxicating liquors. But the past year, however, showed our citizens more forcibly than ever the evils arising from the sale of liquors, and by the bold and earnest stand taken by the clergy of the town, and other prominent and influential citizens, a sweeping change has taken place.

A full report of the meeting, which has been furnished to our obliging Town Clerk, will be found on the next page.

Parish Meeting.

The Unitarian Society held their annual parish meeting at Faxon Hall, on Monday evening last. There was a large gathering and a very animated meeting which lasted until eleven o'clock.

Luther W. Anderson was elected Moderator, and the following gentlemen as parish officers for the ensuing year:—

Clerk.—Warren W. Adams.
Treasurer.—Edward H. Dewson.
Collector.—George H. Locke.
Parish Committee.—E. H. Dewson, W. Lyman Faxon and George Saville.

It was voted to appropriate for parochial purposes for the coming year, $5000; the same to be raised by taxation on pews. Of this sum $2000 was voted to pay the pastor, $1000 for music, and the remainder for sexton, supplies during vacation, fuel, repairs and miscellaneous expenses.

The Treasurer's report showed that there was a small debt which the parish owned. A paper was started at the meeting, and the amount wanted was quickly raised by subscription. The Society therefore starts this year free from debt; an occurrence which has not happened before for many years.

A Pleasant Occasion.

Monday evening last the teachers and pupils of the Adams school united in making their late principal, J. S. Tilton, A. M., the subject of a happy and reciprocal of most substantial evidence of their appreciation of his labors among them.

An evening full of surprises seems to have been planned, for scarcely had Mr. Tilton recovered from the bewilderment of finding his room besieged by a delegation of familiar school faces, then he was addressed by a little maid, who begged him to accept with the love of his own class, a handsome stationery stand. Then followed another and another gift, until there, before him, lay offerings from all the schools: twelve volumes of histories, a steel engraving from the primary children, and from the teachers a handsome book-case.

The happy hours of that evening must in themselves remain to Mr. Tilton a pleasant memory, but how much dearer this renewed assurance, that passing to a field of useful labor he leaves another universally regretted.

ROBBER. A man who came to Quincy on the 10 o'clock train from Boston, on Saturday night last, was robbed by three young men, in the yard between the Town Hall and depot. They seized their victim and threw him to the ground, and then rifled his pockets of what money he had; amounting to between three or four dollars. The young thieves are well known in this place, but from lack of sufficient evidence they are at large.

We have heard of several cases where persons who have returned from the city, after indulging in a glass of liquor, have been robbed near the depot, and we would caution travelers by night to be on their guard.

CHILLED TO DEATH. Harry Lawton, a Swede, an inmate of the Saloon "Sung Harkness" at the corner of Washington street, died on Tuesday morning about 8.30 o'clock, to row across to Quincy Point, and it is supposed lost his ears, as his boat drifted to W. Porter Keene's wharf, North Weymouth, where it was beached. One of the workmen at the yard discovered the boat, and on going to it found Mr. Lawton completely chilled, and he expired in a few moments. He was feeble from recent sickness, and would not have been allowed to go away had the Superintendent been consulted. Medical Examiner Tower of Weymouth viewed the body and rendered a verdict that death was caused by exposure.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE. We call attention to the announcement in another column of a woman suffrage meeting to be held at the Town Hall this evening. Mrs. Haggart, who will be the principal speaker, is a lady of marked ability and has spoken on this topic, with great success, at the Louisville suffrage convention and elsewhere. Our citizens who are interested in the question, and who will take the trouble to attend the meeting may be certain of hearing an effective presentation of the issues involved.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES. Several cases are known to visitors of this association, of women, who, if they had help, would be able to maintain themselves and their children wholly or in part. They can wash, scrub and do any other work, and some of them can sew or stitch. If any persons need work of this kind done, it would be wise charity to give it to these women. Address, Mrs. J. P. Kittredge at the Point, Miss M. V. Doble at the West District; Mr. E. A. Adams on Franklin street.

TOWN MEETING. A warrant for a special town meeting will be found in our columns to-day. The meeting is called at 8 o'clock, on Monday morning, March 27th, to act on six articles. The most important ones are to see if the town will accept of the act passed by the Legislature in reference to a public park; to see if the town will sell the land on Adams street, purchased for an almshouse; to see if the town will remove the pound; and to build a reservoir at Atlantic.

SURGICAL OPERATION. Mr. John Driver, of Boston, had a painful surgical operation performed this week. At the time of the Wollaston disaster, in 1878, he suffered painful injuries, and since that time the right of his leg has been growing more serious, until by advice of his physician, it was removed, in order to save, if possible, the right of the remaining eye, and hopes are entertained that in a short time he will come out all right.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS. At the annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Quincy, held March 9th, the following named persons were elected to serve as officers for the ensuing year:—

President.—Mrs. A. A. Barlow.
Vice President.—Mrs. G. B. Williams, Mrs. Henry Barker, Mrs. Chas. L. Pierce, Mrs. D. B. Stetson.
Secretary.—Mr. Charles A. Spear.
Treasurer.—Miss A. A. Pierce.

Brief Local.

Dr. Everett will preach at the almshouse to-morrow, at 3 o'clock.

Miss Effie Manson, of South Framingham, is a guest of Col. A. B. Packard.

Rev. Anson Tins, Jr., of Weymouth preaches in the Universalist Church to-morrow.

Miss Ada Nutter of Worcester, is enjoying an extended visit with relatives in this town.

Mrs. Mary E. Whittemore, a sister to Mrs. Frederick Southern, has gone to Ann Arbor, Michigan.

A little girl named Kelly was run over on Water street, on Wednesday, but was only slightly bruised.

A special communication of Rural Lodge, F. & A. Masons, will held Thursday evening; work, first degree.

One of Wilson's handsome store wagons was slightly damaged by a running away of the horse on Monday morning.

The tenth private reunion of the F. F. V. was held last evening with Mr. Frank F. Prescott, one of the members.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pratt returned home on Friday from a pleasant trip through Florida.

The new Crane Memorial Library building is about completed, inside and out, and the books are being graded near the building.

Mr. Tilton A. Mead, late popular principal of the Adams Grammar school, has accepted the position of sub-master in the Eliot School, Boston.

The Selectmen will pay the State Aid money on Tuesday, March 28th, instead of Monday—there being a town meeting on Monday.

As will be noticed by a statement in our columns to-day, the debt of Quincy was increased over $5,000 last year, instead of being reduced as stated by the officers.

Mr. John Cavanagh successfully completed the job of moving the large dwelling-house from Wollaston to South Quincy on Wednesday.

It will be noticed by a card in our columns that Dr. Gill, a homoeopathic physician, has opened an office on Washington street, near the new public library, and solicits patronage.

The Universalist Society gave a very pleasant social and supper at Faxon Hall on Wednesday evening last. Some two hundred were present and passed a very enjoyable evening.

A handsome iron gate in front of the residence of the late John Brierley, on Hancock street, was taken off and broken to pieces by some mischievous persons on Saturday evening last.

Rev. E. A. Perry was visited on Wednesday evening last, by quite a large delegation from North Weymouth, members of his parish in that village. A very social and pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Edwin B. Pratt has sold fifteen acres of land on the north side of Codding street to Henry H. Faxon for $4000; also, nine acres on the south east side of the street to the same gentleman for $2000.

Among the patents issued to inventors for New England, is one to George H. Faxon, Jr., of Quincy, for feeding and setting lake birds; also one to D. Whittemore and A. Eppler, Jr., on pegging machines.

The Granite Manufacturers' Association of Quincy, at a meeting held March 13th, voted a revision of price list to take effect May 1st, which will increase the prices of stone cutters about ten per cent.

The granite works of Messrs. Charles H. Hardwick & Co. were visited Friday evening of last week, and a quantity of tools were stolen, valued at about $40, belonging in part to the firm and the remainder to workmen.

In the spring of the year many persons feel feeble and have little strength. The attention of such persons is called to A. G. Durgin's notice in our columns to-day. His preparation of beef, iron and wine is said to be excellent.

The following ladies and gentlemen were present from Quincy, at a Granite Manufacturers' Association of Quincy, at a meeting held March 13th, voted a revision of price list to take effect May 1st, which will increase the prices of stone cutters about ten per cent.

STONE CUTTERS. The Town Hall was filled on Saturday evening last with granite cutters who were anxious to have their wages increased. They thought that rents and prices of living were higher than they were one year ago and that the rates paid by the manufacturers should also be increased. They were not desirous of a strike, but were in hopes by a united action to induce the granite bosses to increase their pay. It was a fine meeting and very creditable to the workmen.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT. Last Wednesday evening quite a serious accident occurred near the residence of Miss Cora Young, corner of Union and Edwards streets. Mr. William W. Mitchell was conveying from Wollaston, three ladies from a meeting of the Glee Club, and stopped at Miss Young's to leave two of the party.

As Mr. Mitchell was assisting the second lady to the ground, the horse started suddenly, and clearing the driver, dashed off on a run; the wheels of the carriage striking against the curbing on the corner of the street, near the residence of Mr. John E. Drake, threw the horse down, tipped the carriage over, and threw Miss Lizzie McGrath, daughter of Mr. P. McGrath, violently to the ground. She was taken up unconscious and carried into Miss Young's, and two doctors were immediately called, but she remained in an unconscious condition all night, and was conveyed to her father's residence next morning, before she recovered from the shock.

Miss McGrath received a severe gash and bruises about the head, but we were pleased to learn yesterday morning from her father, that she was as comfortable as could be expected. No bones were broken, and nothing serious is anticipated from the accident.

The Town Debt.

There is one statement in the Auditors' report in the town book of interest to the present year which I am unable to understand, and which seems to me to be misleading. The auditors say (p. 6):—

"The net amount of the town debt has been decreased $176.92 during the past year, making it now $29,263.75." Turning then to the statement of the debt, (p. 83) it will be seen that the gross debt is $61,571.11, this year, or $423.22 less than in a year ago. The gross assets this year are $35,076.36, or nearly $246.30 less than they were a year ago. The result is, as the auditors state, an apparent decrease for the year of $176 in the net debt. Is this decrease real, however? So far from it, it is quite clear that the net debt has during the year been increased $5,824. Among the cash assets this year is included the land bought in 1880 for an Almshouse lot on Adams street, at a valuation of $6000. This may be very proper. It is undoubtedly a cash asset. The point is, however, that though then in the possession of the town and paid for, this land was not included among the cash assets a year ago. (Town book, 1881, pp. 10, 81, 90.) Had it been included the net debt on February 1, 1881 would have been only $29,470.67 instead of $29,470.67, and the auditors have actually been led to report, what has actually been the case, a decrease in the town-debt during the past year of $5,824. If the value of the Adams street land is omitted in one year, it should be omitted in the other. No one would suspect the auditors of intentionally misleading the town, but apparently they wished to make a good showing. The actual figures do not bear them out in it. During the past year the net debt of the town has in point of fact been increased by very nearly the whole present amount of the Sinking Fund.

Quincy, March 14, 1882.

Wednesday evening, the choir of the C. U. Church were invited to the residence of the pastor, Mr. T. H. Freeman, the occasion being the celebration of his birthday. All the members were present and were pleasantly entertained by their genial host and his estimable wife. We wish him many more similar occasions.

The two members of the Village Engine Company who were suspended by the Engineers, have been re-instated.

On Thursday evening the Temperance committee held conducted the late campaign on the license question to so successful an issue, was recommended by invitation of the Quincy Point Temperance Association, and voted to form a permanent organization. Their number will be increased to fifty or more from all parts of the town, and their special object will be to promote the enforcement of the liquor law, which in Quincy for the present year is spelled with two letters, "NO!"

The organization will be known as "The Citizens' Temperance Committee." Mr. Theophilus King, Jr., was chosen President, and Rev. George B. Lawton, Secretary.

The ladies connected with the C. U. Church propose to give an old-fashioned supper (with live cream and cake attached), at the Neck school house on Thursday evening.

Masters Fred and Jamie Harlow were given a surprise party at their residence on Thursday evening, a large company being present.

Mr. Alfred Sampson and Mr. J. Warren Hayden have been in New York City the past week.

Mrs. Ada Nutting was buried from the M. E. Church last Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Pierson, of Portland, Me., conducted the funeral services, as at his church she became converted. Bros. Kelly and Westlake assisted.

The revival meetings which are now being held at the church are largely attended, and a great deal of interest is shown. Bros. Pierson and Moody, of Portland, Me., conducted the meeting Tuesday evening. The meetings are to be held every evening next week excepting Saturday.

Mr. Herbert Doble is in Maine. We heard from him last week, when he was in Quincy, and he was with him some driving horses, better than any previously brought to Quincy.

Social dances at the Band Hall each Friday evening.

The wicked few who no man parson, but the righteous are as bold as a lion.—Nightingale.

An illustration of this well worn proverb occurred on Monday evening last, when the citizens living on the road from Boston to Quincy were awakened by the steady tramp of a lone pedestrian, who with coat buttoned up, hands in his pocket, and a chew of the weed which he is famous for, was rowing, was rapidly fleeing in the direction of Quincy. He looked neither to the right or left, but as he swung his long arms, it became evident to the observer that it was something that had life. It turned out that one of Quincy's business men, who carries on business near the Robertson House, had been to the theatre and had become so affected by the play that he had lost the train, and took this method of reaching an anxious family.

"BWYER."

Friday evening, March 10th, a large number of Mrs. Mabel Pratt's friends surprised her at her home on Adams street. The time was very pleasantly spent in dancing, games, etc., and it was not until a late hour that the company bade their fair hostess, "Good night."

The Literary Society met this week with Mr. Jas. G. Smith, who contributed the entertainment, for the evening, in the form of a discourse upon newspapers.

District Court, Quincy.

The court record shows this week that Weymouth is the place where the people get drunk, or where the officers do their duty.

Paul Dowd, of Braintree, was convicted for an assault on Andrew J. Mahoney. Case continued until Monday next.

James Kelly, of Weymouth, for being drunk was fined $1 and costs. Michael Keohan, of the same place, for a similar offence, received a like sentence.

WISTAR'S BALM OF WILD CHERRY cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Influenza, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest. 60 cents and $1 a bottle.

It cost Congressman Cox and wife thirty-five different specimens of minerals from Colorado. Among them are gold and silver ore, quartz, crystals and petrified wood.

Gov. Farnham of Vermont has appointed April 7th as Fast Day.

The Town Debt.

There is one statement in the Auditors' report in the town book of interest to the present year which I am unable to understand, and which seems to me to be misleading. The auditors say (p. 6):—

"The net amount of the town debt has been decreased $176.92 during the past year, making it now $29,263.75." Turning then to the statement of the debt, (p. 83) it will be seen that the gross debt is $61,571.11, this year, or $423.22 less than in a year ago. The gross assets this year are $35,076.36, or nearly $246.30 less than they were a year ago. The result is, as the auditors state, an apparent decrease for the year of $176 in the net debt. Is this decrease real, however? So far from it, it is quite clear that the net debt has during the year been increased $5,824. Among the cash assets this year is included the land bought in 1880 for an Almshouse lot on Adams street, at a valuation of $6000. This may be very proper. It is undoubtedly a cash asset. The point is, however, that though then in the possession of the town and paid for, this land was not included among the cash assets a year ago. (Town book, 1881, pp. 10, 81, 90.) Had it been included the net debt on February 1, 1881 would have been only $29,470.67 instead of $29,470.67, and the auditors have actually been led to report, what has actually been the case, a decrease in the town-debt during the past year of $5,824. If the value of the Adams street land is omitted in one year, it should be omitted in the other. No one would suspect the auditors of intentionally misleading the town, but apparently they wished to make a good showing. The actual figures do not bear them out in it. During the past year the net debt of the town has in point of fact been increased by very nearly the whole present amount of the Sinking Fund.

Quincy, March 14, 1882.

Wednesday evening, the choir of the C. U. Church were invited to the residence of the pastor, Mr. T. H. Freeman, the occasion being the celebration of his birthday. All the members were present and were pleasantly entertained by their genial host and his estimable wife. We wish him many more similar occasions.

The two members of the Village Engine Company who were suspended by the Engineers, have been re-instated.

On Thursday evening the Temperance committee held conducted the late campaign on the license question to so successful an issue, was recommended by invitation of the Quincy Point Temperance Association, and voted to form a permanent organization. Their number will be increased to fifty or more from all parts of the town, and their special object will be to promote the enforcement of the liquor law, which in Quincy for the present year is spelled with two letters, "NO!"

The organization will be known as "The Citizens' Temperance Committee." Mr. Theophilus King, Jr., was chosen President, and Rev. George B. Lawton, Secretary.

The ladies connected with the C. U. Church propose to give an old-fashioned supper (with live cream and cake attached), at the Neck school house on Thursday evening.

Masters Fred and Jamie Harlow were given a surprise party at their residence on Thursday evening, a large company being present.

Mr. Alfred Sampson and Mr. J. Warren Hayden have been in New York City the past week.

Mrs. Ada Nutting was buried from the M. E. Church last Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Pierson, of Portland, Me., conducted the funeral services, as at his church she became converted. Bros. Kelly and Westlake assisted.

The revival meetings which are now being held at the church are largely attended, and a great deal of interest is shown. Bros. Pierson and Moody, of Portland, Me., conducted the meeting Tuesday evening. The meetings are to be held every evening next week excepting Saturday.

Mr. Herbert Doble is in Maine. We heard from him last week, when he was in Quincy, and he was with him some driving horses, better than any previously brought to Quincy.

The wicked few who no man parson, but the righteous are as bold as a lion.—Nightingale.

An illustration of this well worn proverb occurred on Monday evening last, when the citizens living on the road from Boston to Quincy were awakened by the steady tramp of a lone pedestrian, who with coat buttoned up, hands in his pocket, and a chew of the weed which he is famous for, was rowing, was rapidly fleeing in the direction of Quincy. He looked neither to the right or left, but as he swung his long arms, it became evident to the observer that it was something that had life. It turned out that one of Quincy's business men, who carries on business near the Robertson House, had been to the theatre and had become so affected by the play that he had lost the train, and

You printed in your paper Feb. 11, some statements copied from the Boston Traveller of Jan. 11, under the above caption. Many of your readers cannot credit the statements therein made, and say if they are not fiction, the names of the parties engaged in them should be made public as a warning, etc. etc. These transactions being public property and on record, I will give additional information, that your readers may investigate for themselves, and not be misled by only one side of the matter. Facts and truth are stubborn things to contend against, and will be overthrown, and are as follows:

THE LAST TEST.
"Helen, I have come tonight to say good-bye."
Cyril Raynor's voice sounded clear and clear; but as his companion glanced up into his pale face, she saw pain there, even in the dim light.
"I have often spoken to you, Helen, about fighting my own way in the world, and now—the time has come."
Down into the long grass sank Helen Verne; and with her face buried in his, she sobbed out, "Oh, I might have known it! I might have known it! I never loved anything but you, Helen, about fighting my own way in the world, and now—the time has come."

WASHINGTON, March 14, 1882.
There are half-a-dozen states inferior in population and wealth to the District of Columbia, but represented in the national legislature by two senators and at least one member. Washington and Alaska alone, of all the states and territories, have no legislative voice. The District of Columbia, it is said, is under the special supervision of Congress. But what is everybody's business is nobody's business, and the individual members of the National Legislature are too busy looking after the interests of their respective districts to care for the District of Columbia. It is true that Congress cannot do anything with the matter, but the money necessary for national buildings, as the department offices and the Capitol show, but Congress is not disposed to philanthropy without display. Last summer, when Mrs. Garfield sickened and almost died from the poison exhaled from the Potomac swamps, and later when the stricken President had to be removed from the malarious locality, the press of the United States declared with one voice that Congress must do something with this malarious swamp. The Capital of the United States is like a besieged city, for years an insidious enemy in the form of a belt of malarious swamps has been closing in upon Washington, and sending its poisoned shafts into the vitals of its inhabitants. The citizens of the Capital have been for years going to Congress pleading to this mass of decaying vegetable matter and deposit of fifth rubbish from the windows of the Capitol. Yet this fetid mass has been increasing until it now consists of hundreds of acres of debris, creating a swamp that is a disgrace to the United States, a crime against health and humanity.

Does he not know that the President, Cabinet, Congress, Government, clerks and everybody who can, get away from Washington in the summer, and that those who stay have their blood blackened and snags sufficed with ague? The fact is, it is a disgrace to the Capital of the United States, a crime against health and humanity.

Town Meetings.

On Monday next there will be a general holiday in Quincy. A large class of the citizens will relinquish the cares of their private business and attend to the wants of the town. There are two meetings called: one at eight o'clock in the morning; the other at one o'clock in the afternoon.

The first meeting is a very important one, as it will decide, in some measure at least, whether the town is desirous of taking the initiative step towards a public park. It does not ask any appropriation, but simply to see if the town will accept the bill which enables it to purchase land for a park. If the act of the legislature is not accepted then the whole subject is stopped for the present; if accepted, a meeting will be called for the election of Park Commissioners, and appropriating money for the purchase of the Woodward property.

This is an important subject, one that should be carefully weighed by the town. It involves not only $100,000 or $200,000, but will ultimately require $1,000,000 or more, before the park presents a satisfactory appearance. We are to decide whether the step taken now will be admitted and approved by the generations to follow. Whether it will not ultimately be a source of pride and happiness to the town? One that the town would not relinquish at any price fifty years hence.

The afternoon meeting is one voters know the importance of too well to stay away. The hall will undoubtedly be crowded.

FIN. A slight fire occurred on Friday evening last on Mill street, Quincy; house formerly owned by Edward B. Southern, but now owned and occupied by J. Francis Hayward. The fire was caused by a stove pipe, and was extinguished by spontaneous combustion. Some oil rags were left by the painter engaged in painting the interior of the house, and the servant girl gathered and placed them in a rag-bag back of the stove, and at about 7 o'clock P. M., and in less than four hours, between 7 and 8 o'clock, the fire was discovered in the shed, and from all indications must have started from the oil rags. Fortunately it was soon discovered and extinguished by a Johnson pump pump stopped its progress. Damage about $150 which is covered by an insurance at the Quincy Mutual.

PATRIOT MEETING. The Congregational (Orthodox) Society held their annual parish meeting on Monday evening, 20th inst. Mr. T. H. Wason was chosen Moderator and the following officers were unanimously chosen for the ensuing year:

Clerk—James S. Baxter.
Standing Committee—W. G. Conroy, C. W. Carter, R. D. Chase.
Treasurer—W. G. Conroy.
John A. Pratt and J. S. Baxter a committee to let the pews.

The Standing Committee have made arrangements with Mr. C. F. Pettengill, 93 Hancock street to serve as Collector for the ensuing year.

PROFESSOR HENRY'S STATE. The statue of Professor Henry, by W. W. Story, is being cast in bronze and will be ready to place on the Commonwealth grounds early in the summer. The face was modeled after a cast of Professor Henry's face, and the bust, executed by Clark Mills, is furnished with an academic gown similar to the one worn by Professor Henry when a member of the Princeton college faculty. The die of the pedestal will be furnished by Messrs. McKenzie & Patterson, of this town. It is to be of Maine black granite, handsomely polished, and the pedestal itself will be of Quincy granite. The sculptor has been paid three instalments of $750 each.

RETAWAY. On Tuesday last as Dr. Donovan's horse was fastened to the hitching post in front of Mrs. Patton's on School street, Mr. E. A. Perkins' team accidentally collided with the hind wheels of the carriage, frightening the horse so that he broke his strap and ran down Elm street; at the corner of South street he cleared himself from the carriage, and kept on to Washington street. The horse was found to have escaped any injury, but the carriage was some shattered.

SALES. A house and one-half acre of land on Pond street, Quincy, owned by John Arnold, has recently been sold to Mark E. Hanson for $2,150. The same estate has since been sold to Henry H. Faxon, of the same amount. David Whittemore, of Wollaston, has sold four acres of land and buildings, on Hancock street, Quincy, to Mellen Bray, for $24,000.

MILTON. Mr. Charles Breck, who for the past thirty-seven years has been town treasurer, of Milton was again the choice of the citizens at the recent election. Mr. Breck, although far advanced in years, is still an active business man with intellect clear and bright and memory far exceeding many in their prime.

MEMORIAL. Mr. Josiah Baxter, one of our oldest citizens, died at his residence, corner of Elm street and Baxter place suddenly on Wednesday. Mr. Baxter has been in poor health for some time. He was buried from his late residence on Friday, Rural Lodge of Masons attending the funeral.

DECEASED. Mr. William H. Perley, a compositor in the Patriot office for several years, died in the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, on the 16th inst. of diabetes. About two years ago he left this place for a position in Woburn.

JURORS. Ensign S. Fellows, Esq., has been drawn to serve as Grand Juror for the year, for Norfolk County. Messrs. William B. Worcester, and Eben H. Sanborn have been drawn for the Criminal Session of the April Term of the Superior Court for Norfolk County.

NEW STATUTES. The state printers have been for the past three weeks supplying the various town and city officials with copies of the new public acts. Soon, other parties who are desirous of obtaining copies will be supplied.

ACCIDENT. Mr. Thomas Lyons' son was quite severely injured recently by a horse. He went into the stall and was kicked and knocked down by the animal. We are pleased to say that the boy is on the mending hand.

REPORT

COMMITTEE ON WARRANT.

The committee appointed by the town to take into consideration all the articles in the annual warrant, not disposed of on the sixth of March last, and to recommend a suitable disposition of the same and prepare appropriate forms of votes to carry out their recommendations, respectfully report that they have carefully examined all matters committed to their charge, and have maturely deliberated upon the advice they are instructed to offer to the town, and they have embodied their views in the following draft of votes, which are herewith respectfully submitted.

For the Committee,
J. Q. ADAMS, Chairman.

ART. 1.—To act upon reports of Auditors of Accounts, Selectmen and School Committee.

That the reports of the Auditors, Selectmen and School Committee be accepted and filed with the town documents.

ART. 2.—To determine the method of repairing the highways during the ensuing year.

That the Highways be repaired under the direction of the Road Commissioners.

ART. 3.—To determine how the town lands shall be improved during the ensuing year.

Voted, That the Overseers of the Poor shall direct the improvement of the town lands for the ensuing year.

ART. 4.—To revise the Jury List.

Voted, To accept the list of jurors as prepared by the Selectmen.

ART. 5.—To hear and act on the report of the Selectmen upon the report of the Overseers of the Poor.

Voted, To accept the report of the Selectmen on guide-boards.

ART. 6.—To see if the town will appropriate the sum of two hundred dollars for the purpose of keeping in repair or decorating the graves within the limits of Quincy of soldiers or sailors who died in the military service of the United States, or the monuments or other memorials erected to their memory, the same to be expended under the direction of Post 88 of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the treasurer and commander of the said Post shall furnish to the Selectmen a true and detailed account, duly itemized and certified by them, of the manner in which said sum was expended, within thirty days after Decoration Day.

ART. 7.—To see what compensation the town will allow the Firemen, Members and Stewards of the Fire Department, for their services the past year.

That the officers and members of the Fire Department be paid as follows:

Chief Engineer,	$25
Assistant Engineer, (clerk)	25

1 Engineer of Steam Pump,	100
1 Ass't. Engineer Steam Pump,	25
220 members, (2 months) W. M. French Hose Co., at $7.50 each,	150
20 members, (3 mos.) ex. W. M. French Hose Co., at $2.50 each,	50
1 Steward, W. M. French Hose Co. (3 months services.)	25
Total,	$2900

Also that the further sum of $1840 be appropriated to defray the miscellaneous expenses of the Fire Department.

ART. 8.—To see if the town will purchase a new Hook and Ladder Truck, as a substitute for the one now located on Canal street.

Voted, That the Engineers be authorized to purchase a new Hook and Ladder Truck at an expense not exceeding $1000 and $1000 is hereby appropriated for that purpose.

ART. 9.—To see if the town will establish a telegraphic fire alarm system, and appropriate money therefor.

Voted,—That the Moderator appoint a committee of five persons, of whom the Chief Engineer shall be one, who shall be authorized to procure and establish a system of electric fire alarm for the town, at an expense not exceeding $2000; and the sum of $2000 is hereby appropriated for that purpose. $2000.

ART. 10.—To see if the town will extend the line of water pipes to the junction of Franklin and School streets, also to the junction of Adams and Hancock streets, and lay a line of water pipes from the steam-pump on Washington street, and appropriate money therefor.

That article thirteen be indefinitely postponed.

ART. 11.—To see if the town will purchase one or more Steam Fire Engines and Equipments, and appropriate money therefor.

Voted, That the Moderator appoint a committee of five persons, of whom the Chief Engineer shall be one, who shall be authorized to procure one steam fire engine, at a cost not exceeding $4000; one pair of horses at a cost of $800; one pair of harness at a cost of $300; and the sum of $4800 is hereby appropriated for the purpose. $4800.

ART. 12.—To see if the town will purchase land and erect a building for an engine house or alter the old stone schoolhouse on School street, and appropriate money therefor.

The Engineers may prepare for temporary use by the steam fire engine the Stone school house on School street; and the sum of $500 is appropriated for the purpose. $500.

ART. 13.—To see if the town will purchase a horse and suitable equipments, as recommended by the committee on protection against fire, for the W. M. French Hose Co., and appropriate money therefor.

In case the town decides to buy a steam fire engine, then Voted, The Moderator shall appoint a committee of five persons, of whom the Chief Engineer shall be one, who shall be authorized to procure a horse and suitable equipments for the W. M. French hose carriage, at an expense not exceeding $400, and that sum is hereby appropriated therefor. $400.

ART. 14.—To see if the town will purchase a horse and suitable equipments, as recommended by the committee on protection against fire, for the W. M. French Hose Co., and appropriate money therefor.

In case the town decides to buy a steam fire engine, then Voted, The Moderator shall appoint a committee of five persons, of whom the Chief Engineer shall be one, who shall be authorized to procure a horse and suitable equipments for the W. M. French hose carriage, at an expense not exceeding $400, and that sum is hereby appropriated therefor. $400.

ART. 15.—To see if the town will construct a self flowing reservoir at the corner of Franklin and High streets, and appropriate money therefor.

Article seventeen is indefinitely postponed.

ART. 16.—To see if the town will enlarge the House of Correction for the purpose of the accumulation of said school, and appropriate money therefor.

The School Committee may make such enlargement of the Willard Schoolhouse as may seem to them most expedient, provided the total cost thereof shall in no case exceed $6000; and that sum is hereby appropriated for that purpose. $6000.

ART. 17.—To see if the town will accept the report of the Selectmen, relating to the improvement of the Aqueduct Causeway.

Your committee are of the opinion that all expenditures on ways should be included in the general appropriation for ways, and they therefore recommend that this article be referred to the Road Commissioners, and that the further consideration thereof be indefinitely postponed.

ART. 18.—To see if the town will improve that part of Sea street, lying between Quincy's woods and Rye island, and appropriate money therefor.

For the reason stated above, the committee recommend the same disposition of this article, viz: that it be referred to the Road Commissioners, and its further consideration here be indefinitely postponed.

ART. 19.—To see if the town will build a retaining wall on Washington street, opposite the late H. Farnum Smith, at an expense not exceeding $150, and that sum is hereby appropriated for the purpose. $150.

ART. 20.—To see if the town will build a retaining wall on Washington street, opposite the late H. Farnum Smith, at an expense not exceeding $150, and that sum is hereby appropriated for the purpose. $150.
